INTEREST ON U. S. LOANS MAY FEED EUROPE

Congress to Scan Plan to Delay Payment by Debtors.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Further extensions of credit by the United States to suffering Europe aggregating $1,800,000,000 will be considered by congress as soon as it reassembles next month.

It is proposed to finance relief of starving central Europe at an expense of $300,000,000 and to fund into time loans the $1,500,000,000 interest due in the next three years on loans to the allies.

In connection with the question of conditions in central Europe the views of Herbert Hoover will be sought. Mr. Hoover is of the opinion that unless America comes to the rescue thousands of people will die of starvation this winter in Austria, Hungary, Poland, and Bohemia. Senator Lenroot has suggested that Mr. Hoover be called before the foreign relations committee of the senate to present his suggestions.

Hoover Calls Treaty Harsh.

Mr. Hoover has been quoted as asserting that the peace treaty deals too harshly with Germany because it permits Germany little chance of rebuilding itself. The allied exactions of Germany are so stupendous, he said, that it will be a long time before the Teutons will be prosperous again. He opposed American relief work in Germany on the ground that relief funds poured into Germany by the United States would be dipped out by new demands of the allies.

Mr. Hoover also is quoted as opposing the assumption by the United States of a mandate for Armenia. He pictured Armenia as a poor house surrounded by solvent banks. He referred to the contiguous cotton fields of Mesopotamia, the copper mines of Syria and the oil fields of the Black sea coast, all of which have been annexed by Great Britain and France.

Urges Help for Starving.

In regard to the relief of starving central Europe Mr. Hoover proposed that the funds of the grain corporation, aggregating with accrued profits $150,000,000, be utilized. He would have this fund advanced as a nominal extension of credit for the purchase of food for Austria, Hungary, Poland, and Czecho-Slovakia. It would be impossible to exact security for such advances, however, and the loan would be regarded as a charity which the United States is called upon to extend from its plenitude to suffering humanity.

The secretary of the treasury will proceed to fund into time obligations the interest due on loans to the allies unless congress decides he lacks the power without further legislation.

Glass Asks for Opinion.

Secretary Glass has asked the ways and means committee of the house to decide this question in a letter in which he says:

"If the treasury demands an immediate cash payment of interest before the industry and trade of Europe have an opportunity to revive we should not only make it impossible for Europe to continue needed purchases here and decrease their ultimate capacity to pay their debt to us, but should hinder rather than help the reconstruction which the world should hasten.

"A nation can liquidate its foreign debts only by the accumulation of foreign credits, which may be accomplished through an excess trade balance, invisible exchange items, the creation of credit by loans, or by the export of gold.

Must Give Them Chance.

"Until our associates in the war have had an opportunity to resume normal industrial and commercial activities they will not have the exports with which to pay the interest due on our obligations and could make such payments only by the shipment of gold or by obtaining dollar loans in the United States.

"While I fully realize the desirability of collecting this interest, I should be most reluctant, without specific instructions from congress to the contrary, to demand the immediate payment of interest by those countries, which would destroy their power to make needed purchases in our mar-

BOARD TO BRING BACK A. E. F. DEAD REACHES BRITAIN

All Bodies That Can Be Moved to Be Sent to the U. S.

LONDON, Dec. 25.—[United News.]—Extensive plans for the wholesale removal of the bodies of America's war dead to the United States will be put into operation in England and France this week.

Fifty-one members of the graves registration service are scheduled to arrive at Southampton tomorrow on board the Martha Washington. Some members of the expedition will remain in England to supervise the work of removing the bodies of Americans who died in England, while the others will proceed to France, where they will start similar operations.

26,096 Buried in Great Britain.

According to the statement of Maj. Whipps, mortuary officer with the American forces in Great Britain, 26,096 American soldiers were buried in Ireland, Scotland, and England. The bodies of only two members of the American navy still remain buried in English soil. The others were transported home shortly after the armistice. In France there still are 600 naval dead, whose bodies will be taken home as soon as techical objections can be overcome.

According to American naval officers in London, France finally has granted permission to the United States to remove both the dead sailors and soldiers.

Many to Be Returned.

Heretofore only in exceptional cases have the bodies of soldiers been sent back to the United States. A recent army order, however, is said to contain instructions to the effect that all bodies not buried in the actual war zone are to be prepared for shipment to America.

The organization, composed partly of army officials and partly of civilians, which will superintend the removal of the bodies, will be divided into three sections. One section will be stationed in England, a second section in France, and the third will be assigned the work of gathering the bodies buried in Belgium, Germany, and Italy.

Some to Be Left Behind.

It is not regarded as possible or desirable to send home all the bodies. Those that are left in Europe will, however, be gathered into one cemetery. The Argonne cemetery, located at Romagne-sur-Montfaucon, in the heart of the region where the A. E. F. made its biggest fight, has been suggested as the site of the permanent A. E. F. cemetery. There are 21,000 Americans interred there now

The hardest work will be in removing the bodies in the war swept areas, it is expected. Identification will be exceedingly difficult in many cases, where large numbers of men were buried close to the battle field.

The cost of the removal of bodies to America will be approximately $1,000 each. Owing to the shortage of railroad equipment in France, army auto trucks will be used to carry the bodies from their present locations to the ships at Brest.

Certificate of Election Teddy Jr.'s Christmas Gift

New York, Dec. 25.—When Col. Theodore Roosevelt began to hand down Christmas presents for his four young children this morning, he spied a present for himself on the topmost peak.

It was his certificate of election to the legislature—Teddy Jr.'s first political office.

The document had been forwarded to Mrs. Roosevelt by the county clerk so that she might surprise her husband with it today.

LATE NEWS BULLETINS

STRASBOURG, Dec. 25.—Great inundations are reported all over Alsace. Above Strasbourg the River Ill has overflowed its banks. Traffic is interrupted in the valley of the Vosges. At Nancy the light and power plants of the city are out of commission, and it is not likely that the newspapers will appear tomorrow. The offices of two of the papers are flooded up to the second floor.

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Dec. 25.—The returns in the "no license" referendum taken simultaneously with the general election poll are incomplete. Thus far the official count places the prohibitionists slightly in the minority.

MANY CRUSHED BY AVALANCHES IN SWITZERLAND

GENEVA, Dec. 25.—The avalanches which occurred at the mountain resort of Davos yesterday caused terror among residents and visitors and resulted in a number of deaths in the village itself.

One huge powdery bank swept down upon a sanitarium, smashing doors and windows on the first and second stories and killing a Russian woman and her nurse and seriously injuring several others. Many were imprisoned in the upper floors throughout the night.

Another avalanche fell on the Hotel Excelsior, killing two employés and doing much damage.

A third avalanche almost overwhelmed the pension Germania. Five dead have been taken from this building, but it is feared others are buried under the wreckage.

Six avalanches swept down within an hour, all leaving their natural beds from the Schiahorn mountain, overhanging Davos, and carrying down telegraph and telephone wires. Happily they occurred in the afternoon, when most of the people were out of doors. It is reported that one avalanche passed within ten yards of a party of American and English skiers.

Union and Nonunion Miners Fight; Troops Asked For

Tacoma, Wash., Dec. 25.—John J. Hewitt, treasurer of the Wilkeson Coal and Coke company, received a report tonight that fighting had broken out between union and nonunion miners at the company's mine at Wilkeson, Wash. He telephoned at once to Gov. Hart asking that troops be rushed to Wilkeson.

N. Y. RED PARADE IS MERELY A DUD

3 Women and 2 Men Held for Holiday Stroll to Free War Slackers.

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Efforts of adherents of the League of Amnesty for Political Prisoners to hold a demonstration in the form of a parade up Fifth avenue to arouse opinion in behalf of Berkman, Goldman, and the federal convicts—a pedestrian plea with music before the churches—developed into a songless scamper. Policemen and spectators, devoid of amnesty sentiment, were responsible.

After it was all over, after the walkers had zigzagged from Fifth to Sixth avenues and deployed, under police guidance, in the side streets, what was left of the original several hundred gathered in the Rev. Percy Stickney Grant's parish house and exchanged experiences.

Counting the Casualties.

Many were missing and five were under arrest for disorderly conduct.

The start was 10 o'clock, and the place the Church of the Ascension parish house on Eleventh street, just west of Sixth avenue. The man at the head of the Indian file was the Rev. Dr. C. V. Howell, a Methodist minister, who carried the Stars and Stripes.

At Fourteenth street a police captain led a squad of his men to the curb. He said:

"Turn back; you have no permit and you have no right to carry those signs."

Crowd Easy to Handle.

The walkers kept on in silence. Then the policemen dispersed them. Some of the pedestrians, however, convinced that the persons walking up the avenue were within the law, tried to argue with the captain's squad.

It was in Thirty-first street that the first "casualties" developed. At Broadway and Thirty-first street a copyreader and a student were arrested for "unlawfully refusing to disband."

Dr. Gertrude Kelly and Miss Mary Duffy were arrested on charges of disorderly conduct. Farther up the avenue, almost in front of the Brick Presbyterian church at Thirty-seventh street, Miss Gladys Greiner of Clifton, a suburb of Baltimore, was arrested.

The Rev. Dr. Howell, still carrying Old Glory, and a few of the braver hikers, managed to get up Fifth avenue as far as Fifty-fifth street. Then they faced south and headed, like many other groups, to where they started.

North and northwest, 15 to 25; west, 20 to 25; south, 25 to 32; east, 25 to 30.

WHAT'S TURKEY WITHOUT AN AX!

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—Four girl war workers bought a live turkey for Christmas and took him home to their apartment. But no one wanted to kill him.

A bottle of chloroform was found. The original purpose of it was for cleaning. Mr. Turkey, by the combined efforts of the four, was put to sleep—killed, they thought.

Then he was plucked and tucked away in a clothes press to await cooking time.

Christmas morning, when the door was opened, out he walked full of life but minus feathers, to the accompaniment of screams and amid much scrambling.

The janitor found an ax.

WOUNDED 'TELL WORLD IT WAS SOME PARTY'

Fort Sheridan Men Voice Thanks for Christmas Joy.

"I'll tell the world it was a real party," said Corporal Bill Hawkins last night, and when a soldier who has been strapped for months in a plaster cast can say it with as much enthusiasm as Bill did, those who contributed to the $14,000 plus Christmas fund may know just how good a time the 3,000 wounded boys at Fort Sheridan had yesterday and how thoroughly they became aware that other folks had not forgotten them.

From the time they woke up in the morning and reached eagerly for the big stockings that hung on the beds until the more lucky ones heard the last notes of the orchestra die away last night at the cotillion in the big gymnasium, there was hardly a moment when some new Christmas surprise was not adding to their merriment.

Bill Catches "Santa" in Act.

Bill was one of the few who caught Santa Claus in the very act. He doesn't sleep quite as much at night as other people, and that's why he happened to be awake when William S. Otis, field director of the Red Cross, tiptoed into his ward at 1 o'clock yesterday morning with an armful of stockings.

"Bill was pretty dejected when I went into this ward this morning," said Mr. Otis. "He was about as down in the mouth as I've ever seen any one. You see, he couldn't go to the Christmas tree entertainment last night and I guess he was feeling pretty blue generally.

"So I dropped in there this afternoon again just to see him especially. You should have seen the transformation. Bill was all smiles. He had his presents spread out there beside his bed and he was tickled to death. Then the music in the wards had brought the real Christmas message—the carols, you know. 'Say,' he said, 'Im sorry I was a little grouchy this morning, but I wasn't feelin' very good. You can tell 'em for me that this is a real treat. We didn't think it would be like this."

Laughter Rings Through Wards.

Throughout the wards the jokes and laughter of the boys could be heard as they drew some mysterious, funny looking little packages from the stockings—the ones that patriotic citizens had helped to fill. Jazz horns were blown until the weaker ones were exhausted. Even before breakfast they were munching apples and candy and oranges and exhibiting their presents to the man in the next cot.

In each bulging stocking there was at least one sensible present, such as a bill fold or a pocket knife or a necktie, and several little gifts such as horns, puzzles, whistles, and other Christmasy trinkets. Appetites for breakfast had been spoiled, but they had been recovered in time for the big feed at 11:30.

How they stuffed! Even special diets were repealed for the time being that no one might lose a bit of the Christmas fun.

"Little Simplicity" Entertains.

Then came an afternoon full of surprises. More than 1,500 of the boys were wheeled into the huge gymnasium or hobbled there on canes and crutches to see the special matinée of "Little Simplicity," which was given with full costumes, scenic effects, and orchestra. Seventy-five persons, headed by Miss Marjorie Gateson, star of the company, and including stage hands, had been taken out to the fort in the morning in two special cars. Nat Royster, manager of the La Salle theater, had canceled the Christmas matinée so the boys might be given the treat even before Chicago had had an opportunity to see the musical comedy.

And did the boys respond? Those who had only one hand to applaud with fell back on the old army yells and whistles with such vigor that the roar was deafening. The "bald head" row was one solid battalion of wheel chairs, hub to hub.

"Reminds me of the way we had the artillery up in the Argonne," laughed one of the "wheelers."

Entertainment in Wards.

While the matinée was in progress the boys in the wards were not forgotten. Thirty-five Junior league girls

ARREST IN RIGA NIPS "RED" PLOT AGAINST THE U. S.

Lenine Aid on Way to America Seized with "Goods."

BY WALTER DURANTY.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

RIGA, Dec. 24.—[Delayed.]—A great bolshevik conspiracy has just been discovered here and the leaders, with the principal subordinates arrested to the number of a hundred. The object of the movement was to overthrow the government and establish bolshevik rule.

Last but not least a Russian sailor was taken bearing large sums of money and jewels of great value concealed in his boot soles and a letter from one of Lenine's closest satellites to "comrades" in America.

The letter contains minute directions for a bolshevik campaign in America.

The prisoner's name and the name and address of the person in America for whom the document and funds were intended I have communicated to the proper quarter.

The document is signed jointly by Buharin, chief of the executive committee bureau of the communist internationale, and by Bersin, alias Winter, a well known bolshevik of Lettish origin.

Real Aims of "Reds."

More than any argument it proves what are the real aims of the Red leaders and what their protestations of peace are worth. It begins:

"Dear Comrades: Permit us to give you a full résumé of our advice and instructions regarding current work in America.

"1. We firmly believe after the expulsion of a number of sections of certain nationalities from the American Socialist party, the time has come to organize in the United States a communist party, which will proceed to get officially in touch with the communist internationale.

"We firmly believe also that this party could be organized from, firstly, the Socialist propaganda league; secondly, the extremer—and now excluded—elements of the American Socialist party; thirdly, the extremer elements of the Socialist Labor party, which, as we are well aware, it is most important to split, as its actions are contrary to our aims, and, fourthly, the International Workers of the World.

Work on Soldiers, Sailors.

"2. We firmly believe that one of the most important aims at present is the organization of communist small nucleus centers among soldiers and sailors, and in preaching fanatical hostility (the Russian word means literally persecution) toward officers.

"3. Such organization of workmen soviets as already exist should not be allowed to degenerate into philanthropic or cultural associations. We are much afraid that in America there is just this danger. Therefore we strongly emphasize that until the soviets have got the upper hand they must regard themselves as militant (the word is underlined) units of the fight for national control and proletarian dictatorship. There must not be an inch yielded from the standpoint. (All the last sentence is underlined in the original.)

"The organization of strikes and of unemployed and the fomenting of insurrections—that is the task appointed. Secondly, it is necessary to take the utmost precautions against the splitting up of the proletariat among the already existing national political parties.

Here's General Platform.

"4. The general platform will be as follows:

"(a) Down with the senate and congress.

"(b) Down with capitalists in the factories. Long live the management of the factories by the workers.

"(c) Down with speculators. All organizations of food and supplies to be in the workers' hands.

"Everywhere it is necessary sharply to emphasize the idea of seizing the whole machinery of economic administration by the working class, and to direct towards this object propaganda and agitation—by an outcry against the high cost of living.

"5. It is of supreme importance to pay the closest attention to the American Federation of Labor. This must be smashed in pieces—(last three words are underlined)—by active work in collaboration with the International Workers of the World to bring about strike movement and revolution."

This document is presented as translated literally from the Russian original, with the double check of one allied citizen familiar with Russian and one English speaking native, besides myself.

600,000 SHOP MEN TO QUIT IF LAW IS ENACTED

Conferees on Verge of Compromise to Halt Revolt.

Albuquerque, N. M., Dec. 25.—Six railroad shop crafts, numbering 600,000 members, will strike if congress, when enacting legislation to govern the railroads when they are returned to private ownership, includes an anti-strike clause, it was asserted today in a statement issued by W. S. Patterson, secretary-treasurer of the International Machinists' union on the Santa Fé system. His authority is limited, of course, but it is believed he speaks the general sentiment of rail workers. Patterson's statement follows:

"Six shop crafts, representing about 600,000 men, have voted to strike if congress enacts a railroad law containing an anti-strike clause. While I am not speaking for other railroad unions, it is known that several in addition to the shop organization have taken similar action.

Empowered to Call Strike.

"The executive committee of the six shop crafts are empowered to call a strike of their members immediately upon the passage of the anti-strike legislation. Under no circumstances will we agree to any compromise looking toward the sacrifice of the rights of our members to strike in case such action becomes necessary.

"This must not be confused with the idea advanced some time ago that the railroad men would strike in order to prevent the return of the roads to their owners, as nothing of the kind is contemplated.

Give Reason for Stand.

"We are opposing the return of the roads to private control more on account of the effect it will have upon us and the rest of the public as consumers, such action necessitating, so it is claimed, an increase in freight rates and consequent rise in the cost of living.

"In other words, so far as our rights as workers are concerned, if we are going to have to fight we believe our chances for victory would be better with corporate management than would be the case under federal control."

LABOR TO SHOW HAND

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Labor's attitude on the return of the railroads to private ownership, it was said today, depends on whether the anti-strike provisions of the Cummins bill are stricken out or retained by the conferees of the two houses, who are now seeking to compromise the differences between the Cummins and the Esch railroad bills.

If these provisions, which are highly objectionable to labor, are omitted from the completed legislation, it is believed all will go well, but if they are made a part of the law a strong effort probably will be made to create a great public demand for a more extended period of government control.

Working on Compromise.

A compromise on the anti-strike provisions, it became known tonight, is being worked out. The plan, favorably considered by both the senate and house conference committees, would place the final decision in disputes in a board in which neither the employés nor the companies would be represented. Failure to carry out the decisions of the proposed disinterested board, would be the "blacklisting" for a period of four months of striking employés or executives who caused a lockout.

The plan was proposed by Senator Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin. The senate and house are widely split on the labor provisions of the two bills, and some of the members have suggested the Lenroot proposal as a compromise.

Anti-Strike Clauses to Go.

The senate conferees admit that the drastic anti-strike provisions of the Cummins bill, making strikes unlawful and punishable with heavy fines and long imprisonment, are done for.

The Esch bill, which passed the house, provides for a complicated system of voluntary conciliation of disputes.

The senate conferees are as strongly opposed to the system proposed in the house measure as the house conferees are to the drastic provisions of the Cummins bill. The house conferees have expressed a willingness to meet the senate half way and accept the Lenroot plan.

Senator Lenroot has discussed the plan with Senator Cummins, and the latter is said to favor the proposal.

Labor Parley Next Week.

Heads of the four great railroad brotherhoods and of the organizations of railroad workers affiliated with the American Federation of Labor are expected in Washington early next week for a conference with Samuel Gompers, president of the federation, and other prominent labor officials.

Labor's position will be fixed then if it is possible for the chiefs to determine upon it so far ahead of the day when the roads go back to the owners under the president's proclamation.

SURPRISES RAIL MEN HEADS

Cleveland, O., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Heads of railroad unions here express surprise at announcement of the government's plan to return the railroads to private ownership March 1.

Warren S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, would not make any comment.

W. G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said he hoped no anti-strike legislation would be passed before the change.

"If the people want anti-strike legislation, they can take up the matter after the return of the railroads to private control," Mr. Lee said.

Shea Thinks It a Mistake.

Timothy Shea, acting president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, declared the government's plan to return the roads to private ownership March 1 a mistake. He proposed the government maintain control for two years longer.

"The public would then be so well pleased it would never return them," he said. "I don't expect railroad employes to strike and I don't expect the railroads to attempt to lower wages. Employés will go on just the same.

"We want the roads to be returned as they were received, with no restrictions attached. The Cummins bill is against the rights of citizens and should not be passed to hamper railroad employés."

Delay Good Thing—Ripley.

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 25.—E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway, said tonight that the action of President Wilson in postponing the return of the railroads to private ownership from Jan. 1 to March 1, "was probably a good thing for all concerned, in view of the fact that congress had failed to pass laws for the operation of the roads."

"It will give everybody a chance to prepare," he said.

FOR HIGHER FREIGHT

The shippers of the country will support the railroads in their effort to induce the interstate commerce commission to allow an increase in freight rates, large Chicago shippers declared yesterday.

A canvass of some of these and of heads of organizations to which they belong revealed that there is a general feeling that the railroads, when they go back to their owners, should be allowed more revenue.

"Every fair minded man believes the roads should be allowed to become self-supporting," said Arthur Meeker of Armour & Co. "They are not in that condition now. As a matter of fact, the roads were in need of much improvement, extension, and replacement when they were taken over by the government. The need now is even greater. Every shipper, I believe, who is fair-minded and realizes the importance of adequate railroad service to the country will favor allowing the roads a higher rate. How high it should be can be determined by taking stock of the needs of the roads."

Favored by Mine Owners.

F. C. Honnold of the Illinois Coal Operators' association said he believed the operators were to a man in favor of giving the roads "revenue enough to support themselves."

"Because the roads were not allowed enough revenue before the war, we had meatless days and heatless days and others 'less' days during the war. Why? Because the railroads were unable to move freight with the speed requisite to supply all needs. They didn't have cars enough, nor locomotives enough, nor enough equipment generally.

"They are not able to handle their business today with proper efficiency. They should be allowed revenue enough to enable them to support themselves and bring themselves up to the standard necessary for the nation's prosperity. The shippers realize this, and I am sure will do what they can to bring about the increase."

Merrick for Increases.

H. H. Merrick, president of the Association of Commerce, blamed the railroad administration for the present "run down condition" of the roads, and declared they should be allowed to increase their rates without any quibbling.

"The roads were not adequate to the country's needs when the war came," said Mr. Merrick, "but it will take them two or three years to get back from where the administration leaves them to the point they were at when the government took them over. By all means, they should be allowed to make such increases in rates as are necessary. That the roads become self-supporting and able to extend is essential to the nation's prosperity."

Accept Holden Estimate.

No one would venture a guess on what might constitute an increase adequate for the needs of the roads. All said they believed the estimate of the roads' needs made by Hale Holden in THE TRIBUNE was correct—five billions expenditure in five years.

The general sentiment appeared to be that the railroad men were best judges of the needs of the roads, and that they were more anxious than any one else to bring the roads back to an efficient standard and a paying basis.

Several prominent railroad officials said they had received assurances from leading shippers that any move for permission to increase rates would receive hearty support from the shippers.

Christmas Gifts Total $250,000 at N. Y. Church

New York, Dec. 25.—Three Christmas gifts, a total of $250,000, towards completion of the nave of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine were announced today by the Rt. Rev. Charles Sumner Burch, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York. Two of the gifts were for $100,000 each and the other $50,000. The donors' names were withheld.

CITY'S MERRIEST YULE CENTERS IN HOMES, CHURCHES

Less Fortunate, Public Wards, Share Big Day.

Chicago harked back a score of years yesterday to the days when Christmas was a solemn occasion, for while the day marked one of the merriest of holidays, seldom has the city been more quiet.

The loop, after three weeks of crowds and traffic jams, was deserted. Gone were the street hawkers and the red chimneys with their guardian Santas, and even the taxicabs seemed to be enjoying a holiday in haunts far afield.

In thousands of Chicago homes, however, Christmas was all that legend has taught it to be, and in the poorer sections it meant something out of the ordinary. It meant good things to eat, and warm things to wear, and toys, and sparkling trees, and all the holiday paraphernalia, for thousands of Chicagoans, good fellows all, had turned out in the hours of the night with overflowing baskets of good cheer.

Views of the Royal Gorge.

Two hundred child patients at the county hospital laughed and prattled over hordes of new toys.

Fifty ex-service men stormed the ramparts of Turkey at the Twentieth Century café as guests of Mrs. Herbert Jones of the Blackstone hotel.

Patients at United States hospital No. 2, Forty-seventh street and Drexel boulevard, wandered through wards gorgeous with holly and trimmin's and forgot their troubles in the general celebration.

At the Juvenile Detention home a big tree was provided and in a score of other institutions everything possible was done to make the lives of the inmates a little brighter.

The Salvation Army, Volunteers of America, and other charitable organizations worked all day that no one in the city might go hungry. Thousands of baskets were distributed, and thousands of persons were treated to real Christmas dinners in Christmas surroundings.

In the residence sections bands of singers throughout the day caroled their message of peace and good will on earth.

Hospitals and Jails Gay.

Hospitals and jails, too, enjoyed a real Christmas celebration. Feasts provided by the institutions were supplemented by baskets of food and boxes of candy from parents and friends, and nurses were kept busy watching that their patients did not overeat.

At the county hospital, three illuminated trees were placed outdoors between the wings. Ward 21 was turned into a theater for the day and a program of songs and dances given for patients able to leave their rooms. Children's wards were decorated with Christmas greens and each ward had a tree. Only two emergency calls were received during the day.

One hundred and fifty baskets and packages were received by Guard Phil Miller at the county jail for his prisoners. The Christmas dinner consisted of chicken, mashed potatoes, mince pie and coffee.

3,300 Insane Have Santa.

A dinner of chicken and other delicacies was served at the Chicago State Hospital for the Insane. Squads of doctors and nurses, accompanied by a Santa Claus in full dress, distributed presents to the 3,300 patients during the morning.

Inmates of the Psycopathic hospital celebrated at night with a special entertainment of songs and dances.

The 170 children in the Contagious Disease hospital at 3026 South California avenue were guests of the Elks lodge, a tree and gifts being furnished for each of the four floors.

Prisoners in the bridewell saw a fifteen act vaudeville show, supplemented by three two-round boxing bouts. Turkey and mince pie were served for dinner.

Large Crowds Attend Church.

Large crowds attended the churches, where there were special musical programs and sermons dealing with the Nativity and with after the war problems. There were Christmas masses at the Roman Catholic churches.

Motion picture and vaudeville houses, as well as the "legitimate" theaters, were crowded at night by Christmas celebrators, in both the loop and outlying districts.

Fires were few during the day, the use of electric lighting outfits instead of candles on Christmas trees preventing thousands of dollars in damages from flames and water.

Residents of Wilmette, Kenilworth, and Winnetka played Santa Claus at Christmas dinners to 100 children from the Lake Bluff Methodist Episcopal orphanage.

JAPS DELIVER COREAN CITIES TO VICE SYSTEM

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

SEOUL, Nov. 17.—One of the first things the Japanese have done in "cleaning up" Seoul has been the establishment of a segregated vice district. There is said to be a deliberate effort by the Japanese to debauch the Corean youth of both sexes.

In Seoul's first vice district—the Coreans were peculiarly free of this practice under their own rule—eleven additional houses are now in process of construction.

The Coreans say the Japanese discriminate against them in the schools, in rents and farming opportunities, in railroad rates and in time and manner of shipments of goods in which they may happen to come in competition with Japanese shippers.

Three Little Orphan Kids in the Midst of the Christmas Feast Given to Seventy by Restaurant Owner.

MEYER BAROSCH, ABE GHULMAN, AND MARY PETRZILKA.

Talk about turkey and cranberry sauce and stuffin' and celery and plum puddin'! If you wish to talk about those things, you should interview the seventy little orphan kids who sat down to one of the biggest Christmas dinners ever yesterday afternoon in the restaurant of Gilliam Karagianis at 1150 South Wabash avenue. Mr. Karagianis had as his guests thirty-five boys and thirty-five girls. Did they eat? If gravy and cranberries spread from ear to ear mean anything, they did.

Christmas at White House Quiet; Pershing with Family

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—The national capital, officially and privately, spent a quiet Christmas. All departments of the government were closed and congress was in the midst of its two weeks' holiday recess.

The only official act of the day was the signing by President Wilson of the Edge bill. With this exception the president rested, spending most of the forenoon in the White House garden and at noon eating a Christmas dinner, including turkey, served in his room by Mrs. Wilson.

During the afternoon, while Mrs. Wilson drove out to present gifts to friends and to the children living along the road to the country club where the president before his illness played golf, Mr. Wilson read a large number of Christmas messages from the United States and abroad.

Members of the cabinet and other high government officials spent the day at their homes, several, including Secretary Baker, paying a brief visit to their offices.

Fighting Men Feast.

A spirit of thanksgiving permeated the observance of the sacred day all over the nation. Special Christmas dinners were served to Uncle Sam's soldiers and sailors throughout the world, elaborate provision being made for the sick and wounded veterans in hospitals.

Hundreds of local postoffice employés sacrificed a part of their Christmas holiday today to insure the delivery of belated parcels and greetings to government employés from every nook and corner of the country. Christmas mails here were unusually heavy this year, officials said.

Several score of girl war workers in the navy allotment office under Rear Admiral Cowie pooled the money they would have spent for Christmas for dinner supplies and toys for the poor. Large navy trucks were loaded with the gifts, which were distributed in the poorer section of the city with Howell Armor, a plebe at Annapolis, playing the part of Santa Claus.

Pershing with His Family.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 25.—For the first time since 1915 Gen. John J. Pershing today was with his 10 year son, Warren, and other members of his family for Christmas. He spent the day quietly at the residence of his sister, Mrs. D. M. Butler. Gen. Pershing's 1915 Christmas day with his family was spent at El Paso, Tex. A few months later he was called to the punitive expedition into Mexico.

Vice President at Indianapolis.

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 25.—Vice President Thomas R. Marshall, Mrs. Marshall, and their foster son, Morrison Marshall, spent Christmas day quietly at the home of a friend. There was a Christmas tree and presents for the child. Mr. Marshall will be the guest of honor at a luncheon tomorrow at the Indiana Democratic club.

Pittsburgh "Crazy" Over Wireless Concert Music

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Listening by means of the wireless telephone to a selection of music played by a phonograph has become the Saturday evening amusement of 400 owners of wireless receiving sets living in Pittsburgh and its environs. The music is heard, it is said, in exactly the tones as they come from the phonograph records.

BREECHES GIVE CHINA LADY SEAT IN SIBERIA TRAIN

Cigaret Puff and Glassy Stare Hold Her Fort.

BY FREDERICK SMITH.

[Tribune Correspondent in the Far East.]

PEKING, Nov. 19.—Leaving Harbin for Peking, the traveler tries to get a place on a first class car and fails. So he buys a second class ticket. The railroad from Harbin to Changchun is operated and guarded by the Japanese, although it is in Manchuria, and Manchuria is a Chinese province. But that is a question that our little brown brothers will have to settle among themselves. Harbin to Changchun is the first stage of the journey from Harbin to Peking, and we are on our way.

Hard to Find a Seat.

It is impossible to find a seat. The very first of the semi-closed compartments we glance into we find occupied by a Chinese lady and her lord and ostensible master. The man sits with his baggage, entirely occupying one long seat. The lady, dreamily puffing at a cigaret, is lying prone on her back on the other seat, her silken ankles crossed. She is practically prone. She would be were it not for the fact that her raven knot of hair rests on a tiny shelf which elevates her head. She is dressed in a silk jacket, richly embroidered, and a pair of nifty satin trousers. They fit. Her brocaded shoes are of a shape not unlike a truncated pyramid. Their capacity is about that of a cup of afternoon tea.

She doesn't move her feet, although they could be so easily moved, not being longer than a robust fountain pen. She manipulates the cigaret and its long jeweled holder with one hand and has the other one thrust into a pants pocket. Such a lady! She looks at me so calmly and imperturbably that I know she is not going to move, and so I move.

First View of 100 Per Cent Money.

We leave her pondering the price of rice or the prospect of equal suffrage legislation or whatever it is she is ruminating about and go on to the end of the car. Each compartment is fully occupied by Chinese, Japanese, Russians, or baggage. My two coolies look inquiringly at me, for they must find a place to put my bag, typewriter, blanket roll, coat. I motion to a shelf and up goes the luggage. Coolies prepare to withdraw with their eyes on my change pocket. I offer them some Siberian rubles as a fee, but when I see they are either about to cry or to bite me I hastily substitute an American half dollar. The coolies take it and run off chattering over the division of the only first class, regular, 100 per cent money they ever saw in their whole lives.

It's a long way to Changchun. Starting at 1:30 in the afternoon, Changchun is reached at about 10:40 at night. Meanwhile we sit down on a step of the car ahead and smoke a cigar. The trainmaster comes around and takes a look at our ticket and shoots us back into the second class car. It seems we had been sitting on a first class step.

A Seat at Last.

A Russian, who looks as if he were wearing the self-same coat in which Washington crossed the Delaware and in which he had his picture taken while the wind was blowing, gets off with his wife, and at last we have a seat. That Russian had been talking for three hours straight without coming up for air. I will wager the day he discontinues continuous conversation will be the same day his loved ones call in the undertaker and ask him to pick out a casket that is richly simple but not too expensive, as the hospital bill is large, and the doc hasn't received his yet.

It begins to grow dark. That is a signal for the passengers to go to sleep. There are shelves up near the roof on which Chinese gentlemen recline and snore. There are lower seats and upper seats on which Russians and Chinese slumber. They wrap blankets or coats about themselves and lie around and saw wood in the gloaming. Two candles are brought in to illuminate the car.

WASHINGTON NEWS —IN BRIEF—

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Washington Bureau of The Tribune.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 25.

EXTENSIONS of credit totaling approximately $1,800,000,000 are planned by the government as part of their further program for the aid of Europe. This includes the financing of the relief of starving central Europe at a cost of $300,000,000 and the funding into time loans of the $1,600,000,000 interest due in the next three years on loans made thus far to the allies.

EUROPE will remain in continuous turmoil for years to come without the steadying hand of the United States, according to Representative Britten of Chicago, who has just returned from a stay of several months abroad. Mr. Britten said that the administration ought to accept the senate foreign relations committee reservations to the peace treaty rather than sacrifice the entire treaty.

ATTORNEY GENERAL PALMER regards the influence of the woman voters as valuable in eliminating unrest and stabilizing the nation. He so stated in an appeal to state legislatures which convene next month to ratify promptly the equal suffrage constitutional amendment.

LABOR problems are the most perplexing which confront congress and the railroad administration in their preparations for the return of the railroads to private operation March 1. The conferees on the railroad bill are settling down to a month's grind with prospects unfavorable for an early agreement. Members of congress fear an attempt to use threats of a general strike, which are coming to the surface in connection with demands for increased wages, as a club to force satisfactory legislation.

PRESIDENT WILSON has signed the Edge bill authorizing the formation of foreign banking corporations for the financing of export trade. Organization of a number of large corporations under its powers is expected in the near future.

AVIATOR DODGES DEATH AT FALLS OF NIAGARA RIVER

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—How he escaped being plunged in his seaplane over Niagara falls is told in a letter received today by Maj. Sidney E. Parker at the American Flying club from Capt. Talbot G. Wilcox. The captain was flying over the Niagara river and his engine began to miss fire. The machine alighted on the river and a swift current swept it against ice cakes as it sped toward the falls. Without oars the captain could only make desperate efforts to get the engine to work. Automobilists on the shore honked horns to attract help, but the captain's machine suddenly was swerved against Goat island and stranded just when it seemed he would go over the falls. The plane was towed ashore.

POET UNNERVED BY MATERIAL WELCOME OF U.S.

Maeterlinck Forced to Keep to Room.

New York, Dec. 25.—Maurice Maeterlinck spent his first Christmas day in America in bed, recuperating from the lionizing attacks that he met when La France docked on Tuesday.

Henry Russell, who modestly declares that after their friendship of some twenty years Maeterlinck has given him full legal and moral rights of attorney, explains that this is a highly sensitized recluse, who is so used to a life "far from the madding crowd," that America's demonstrative friendship and disregard for the sanctity of celebrity has quite unnerved him."

Well Guarded in France.

"Far in the south of France, far from the cities, there is a great, wall inclosed chateau," Russell explained, "where this almost hermit-poet and philosopher lived. The chateau was guarded by eight fierce dogs, and pity the man who faced them. Two housekeepers and six servants helped out the dogs. For years the servants have been taught to say to all questioners about Maeterlinck, 'Monsieur Maeterlinck est parti a la Montagne.'

"Only intimates of the man escaped this answer and were admitted. In six years, I dare say, Maeterlinck has met but two strangers. He has even refused admission to royal princesses—not because of vanity, but because a philosopher must keep himself from the multitude.

And Such a Change!

"Imagine a man like this, who has never before in his life faced a camera, bombarded by twenty-five movie camera men, as many newspaper photographers, and forty reporters as soon as he reached the hospitable shores of this country! He is actually afraid to stir from his rooms. He will not eat in public. America has jangled the harmonic soulstrings of a dreamer and poet."

However, the fingers of the poet have consented to autograph books and letters for $5 each, as requests for autographs are keeping three secretaries busy.

Psychic Message Must Wait.

Hundreds of letters from the bereaved war mothers are pouring in to the poet, beseeching him to act as a medium to put them into communication with the spirits of their sons. Maeterlinck, however, says that his psychic message must wait until it is given forth at his regular lectures.

Between his siestas the poet entertained Mr. and Mrs. Otto Kahn and Cornelius Vanderbilt. When the conversation veered to intellectual results of the war Maeterlinck declared that America showed much more purity of intellectual and spiritual hunger than Europe. He believed that the numerous religious and philosophical sects stimulated this groping for light. He also declared that he could see a rebirth in the American arts and literature since the war.

Manhattan Opera Company Strands in Baltimore, Md.

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 25.—The Manhattan Grand Opera company, which was organized a few weeks ago in New York, opened here Monday night for a week's engagement and disbanded today. The members of the orchestra left for New York tonight. No performance was given last night. The singers will give a concert tomorrow night to raise funds to defray their expenses here and their railroad fares home. The principals in the company include Riccardo Martin and Cedia Breau.

JAPAN AND GREAT BRITAIN SPLIT ON MANDATORIES

Involves Race Question and Future Policy.

BY EDWIN L. JAMES.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.

[Copyright: 1919.]

PARIS, Dec. 25.—Japan has again raised the question at the peace conference of racial equality. This time it is a question between Japan and Great Britain. Japan has withheld her agreement to the mandate arrangements for the former German colonies because it would deny her colonization and trade rights in certain islands which would go to the British colonies as mandatories. These rights were obtained by agreements between the governments of Tokio and Berlin before the war.

Japan's argument is much the same as that advanced by her with regard to racial equality in the United States—namely: that the spirit of the league of nations was opposed to discrimination among races.

Files Her Objections.

Yesterday, when the supreme council took up finally the division of the former German colonies, Japan filed her objections. Under the peace treaty the mandates are divided into three categories. Class A has to do with Ottoman territory. Class B embraces German East Africa, which is divided into two mandates, one to Great Britain and one to Belgium. It was approved. The plan of division under class C, which gives to the neighboring powers or dominions rights almost akin to sovereignty, assigned Southwest Africa to Great Britain, the island of Narau to Great Britain, the German part of Samoa to New Zealand, the German part of New Guinea and the Bismarck archipelago to Australia, and the Marshall islands, the Carolines, and the Marianne islands to Japan.

Delay Is Granted.

When the time for the vote came on this arrangement Ambassador Matsui pointed out that Japan would lose colonization rights in certain territories ceded to the English dominions, and he laid emphasis on Australian laws which would apply to New Guinea and the Bismarck archipelago. He said Japan asked free trade and colonization rights, and therefore he would not agree to the plan of division. He asked for a delay, so he could consult his government. The delay was granted.

Le Journal remarks today:

"It is not merely a question of delay while the Tokio government can be consulted; one of the essential principles of the future organization of the world is put in question."

Two German Officers Sentenced for Pillage

AMIENS, Dec. 24.—[Delayed.]—A court martial has sentenced the German officer, Robert Roeckling, administrator of mines at Karlsruhe, to ten years' confinement, fifteen years of exile, and a fine of 10,000,000 francs upon his conviction of a charge of organizing the pillage of factories in eastern France. Herman Ludwig was given a similar sentence by default. Roeckling was one of the "steel kings" of Germany, having large interests in that industry.

LOVE, GOLD, HATE FIGURE IN CLIMAX OF BROWN DEATH

Mt. Clemens Thrilled by Fast Set's Romances.

BY A. W. ELLIOTT.

Mount Clemens, Mich., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Mount Clemens is a city of whispers and pointing fingers Christmas night.

The mysterious murder of J. Stanley Brown, member of the younger, fast set and heir to the $500,000 estate of his father, the late John H. Brown, Detroit tobacconist, threw a sinister shadow of speculation and gossip over the day's festivities.

Brown's body, with four bullet holes in the back of his neck and head, was found reclining over the steering wheel of his automobile on a lonely motor path near Dead Man's hill, a few miles from here, Wednesday morning.

Mount Clemens authorities believe he was shot by some one occupying the rear seat of the automobile, that the weapon was an automatic, and that the slayer was unused to firing, because none of the bullets entered his brain, although the shots were fired at close range and such was their evident target. A man's footprints were found in the snow on the road.

Revenge was the motive generally accepted. The robbery theory was discounted by the fact that $60 in negotiable traveling checks, $2 in cash, and a $1,500 diamond ring were undisturbed on the body.

Sheriff William Caldwell had arrested no one at midnight. He indicated that an arrest will be made tomorrow, but refused to disclose any name or say whether a man or woman will be taken into custody.

Weird Tangle of Love, Money.

A half dozen of the murdered man's friends and relatives by marriage were under surveillance in their homes during the day, however, protected from questioning only by the spirit of Yuletide.

The deputies have uncovered the most unusual tangle of love, money, marriage, and hate ever brought to light in the select social circles of the Michigan health resort. All of the figures in the mixup will be questioned tomorrow.

Sheriff Caldwell expects Ruth Prevost Brown, Brown's 23 year old wife, the mother of two children, to aid him in shedding light on the events which preceded the murder. Although they have been estranged several times during the last few months and a suit for divorce had been filed by Brown, she was one of the last persons to be seen with him Tuesday night at her father's house.

He called in his automobile and, after driving her about the city, gave her $50 as a Christmas present and announced he would depart on the following morning for Florida, where he would make his home in the future.

Wife Gets Half of Estate.

On Jan. 10 he would have received his second $30,000 installment of his share in his father's fortune. By his will, drawn up a year ago, all his estate, estimated here at $90,000, will be divided between the wife and their eldest child, Phyllis, 5 years old.

Local gossip never hit upon an acceptable reason why his will cut off their second baby, Virginia, aged 2.

A second woman, whom the authorities would identify only as "Dollie" and whose home is said to be at Battle Creek, was injected into the mystery when she appeared in Mount Clemens tonight to inquire after Brown. She told Sheriff Caldwell she had an appointment to meet him Wednesday morning at the Metropole hotel in Detroit. When he failed to appear, she declared, she had a premonition something had happened to him.

She will also be questioned.

Cousin's Name Mentioned.

Local gossip joined her name in a romance with Lloyd Prevost, cousin of Brown's wife and his roommate at the Edison hotel. Prevost also was riding with Brown on the night of his death, but said he left him at 9:30.

The fourth to be questioned was Theodore Wildey, taxicab driver, named by Brown in his suit for divorce, filed in September. Wildey and Brown engaged in a fight over the husband's charges three weeks ago.

The fifth is Robert Prevost, another cousin of the widow. He volunteered the information that Brown had visited his house on the night of the slaying.

The whereabouts of $20,000 worth of negotiable securities which Brown was known to have carried in a money belt up to three days ago, and which may be missing, is the only basis for speculation on the robbery theory. Sheriff Caldwell will check up with the Detroit Trust company, executors of Brown's father's will.

The fact that the money belt was worn beneath his clothes and these had not been disturbed when the body was found led the authorities to believe the securities will be discovered in the trust company's vaults.

Brown was the third to die of four brothers who would have participated in the estate of their father. Harry, the eldest, died three years ago. Alfred dropped dead three weeks ago.

No Use for Constitution Until It Is of Use to Him

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Attorney Jacob Margolis, who confessed he was an anarchist and did not believe in government of any form, while testifying before the senate committee investigating the steel strike, has engaged numerous counsel, seeking to avert disbarment in Allegheny county. He will contend disbarment would violate his constitutional right of free speech.

Lieut. Poulet Will Continue on His Flight to Australia

PARIS, Dec. 25.—A new machine will be sent to Lieut. Etienne Poulet, French aviator, who has not abandoned his flight to Australia, according to the Intransigeant, but intends to continue and return to Paris by air. His machine was worn out by his 14,000 kilometer flight. The new machine should reach him in Burma in about three weeks.

When the Theater Came to Those Who Couldn't Go to Theater

Miss Marjorie Gateson

The upper picture reveals a row of the wounded soldiers in wheel chairs lined up yesterday afternoon in the gymnasium at Fort Sheridan, as spectators of "Little Simplicity," a musical comedy which opened last night in the La Salle. The seventy-five actors, musicians, and stage hands went to Fort Sheridan at 10:30 a. m. and gave a matinee performance for the wounded soldiers. Thus they generously gave up their whole Christmas for others, but it is rumored they themselves after all had as good a time as if they had stayed in town.

Wounded Give Thanks for Christmas Joy.

and members of Miss Westerfeldt's choral group passed from ward to ward singing Christmas carols, pausing now and then to cheer some bandaged hero or laugh with him about some comical toy. For what good is a Christmas present unless you have some one else to share it with and admire it? And who radiates Christmas spirit more abundantly — especially to a doughboy—than a pretty girl?

Nor were the carol singers the only ones. There were twenty young women, headed by Miss Dorothy Keeley, who gave up their entire Christmas day to serving refreshments and performing a thousand and one other little services lest there be one melancholy moment. Then there were the older women, among them Mrs. Louis Stumer and Mrs. George D. McLaughlin, who were here, there, and everywhere, doing little motherly acts to drive away every tiny bit of homesickness.

And then there were the special vaudeville acts in the wards and corridors outside the smaller rooms, where all might see and hear—a veritable loop playhouse brought to the bedside, with no intermission, so that the "cot boys" didn't even have time to wish they had been able to go to the gymnasium with the others.

Thanks Tribune Readers.

The boys couldn't all get the opportunity to thank THE TRIBUNE readers for their generous donations, but Col. William N. Bispham of the medical corps, commandant of the hospital, expressed their appreciation in the following letter:

"I desire to express my thanks, and, through me, the thanks of every individual patient in this hospital for the most generous action of the people of Chicago in contributing in such a munificent way to the Christmas of the sick and wounded at this institution. It has made for them a Christmas which will long be remembered, and shows to every one that the wounded soldier has still a niche in the hearts of the people of this country.

"I also desire to thank THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for its earnest and efficient coöperation in engineering this work and bringing the celebration to such a successful conclusion. My sincerest and heartfelt thanks go out to each and every one with the wish that their Christmas may be as merry as ours and that their New Year will be the happiest of their existence."

Special Refreshments.

As soon as the matinée was over, ice cream, cake, and coffee were served in the Red Cross Convalescent home. Then came supper and more entertainment until bedtime. A cotillon was held for the enlisted men in the gymnasium, and there were movies in the wards and phonographs were going all over the hospital.

It'll be many days before the boys tire of the great stacks of new records provided by those who did not forget. They will add a touch of permanency to the Christmas and make it remembered long after stomachaches have been forgotten.

AT 47TH STREET HOSPITAL

Santa Claus visited the 517 discharged wounded soldiers in the United States Public Health Service hospital, Forty-seventh street and Drexel boulevard, last night. It was open house at the institution from 10 o'clock in the morning until midnight.

The festivities started with a big Christmas feed at 12:30 o'clock. Many of the soldiers, however, had been invited out to Christmas dinners.

Last night the big recreation room, which had been decorated for the occasion, was packed with patients, nurses, and friends. H. T. Gielou, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was the Santa Claus and distributed gifts sent by friends, the American Legion, the Red Cross, Knights of Columbus, the Liberty drivers, Y. M. C. A., and other organizations.

A long vaudeville and musical program preceded the Christmas program, which was followed by a dance.

A committee of the wounded soldiers, headed by Dr. W. L. Staggers, who lost a leg in France, donated and trimmed a Christmas tree for the kids at the Crippled Children's hospital, Fifty-first street and Park avenue.

Paris May Save Daylight in Efforts to Keep Warm

PARIS, Dec. 25.—By turning clocks one hour ahead, thus saving light, and by other measures, the government will try to meet the coal crisis.

IRISH ROLLING IN WEALTH; ALL ARE HAPPY: M'CLURE

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—S. S. McClure, the publisher, arrived on the Mauretania today after traveling through seventeen countries studying industrial conditions. He said Ireland is the most prosperous country of all, and that he investigated the financial status of Irish farmers, and finds they have more than $500,000,000 in banks and Ireland is really overflowing with prosperity. He would not comment on the internal strife, but said one had to read outside papers to learn of any trouble there. He said the people are well dressed and well housed.

The Mauretania from Southampton and the transport President Grant arrived after stormy voyages. The Mauretania made the run in six days and fifty-eight minutes, but its bridge and superstructure showed signs of battle with seas. The Mauretania brought 1,500 passengers and 7,000 bags of mail. The President Grant brought 651 passengers.

Sir Ernest Harder Williams, an English publisher, and James B. Regan, owner and manager of the Knickerbocker hotel, were on the Mauretania. Mr. Regan reported the establishment of two $50,000,000 corporations, one in England and one in France, for the handling of patent rights and manufacturing of a safety device for railroad trains.

Mr. Klingsmith and Morton Jacobs, who is vice president of the Overland company, said American manufacturers will have to face keen competition with European manufacturers in the low priced car market.

Drinks Wood Alcohol, Found Dead in His Room

Joseph Chrupek of 2834 West Twenty-fifth place died yesterday afternoon from the effects of drinking wood alcohol. He was found in a room of his home, a half emptied bottle by his side. The police say he got the wood alcohol in a saloon at Thirty-seventh street and Kedzie avenue.

Ed McDonald, 2120 Benson street, was found dazed in the street last night. Probably wood alcohol.

FOREIGN NEWS NOTES.

BRUSSELS.—A discussion of the government's policy in the chamber of deputies was followed by a vote of confidence in the ministry, 126 to 6.

MADRID.—A bomb was set off in the Paseo Alberto Aduilara, near the Jesuit convent. There were no casualties, but some damage was done. It is believed the bomb was placed by street car strikers.

ROME.—Premier Venizelos of Greece has arrived here from Athens. He remained in Rome for twelve hours and then left for Paris. Sig. Scialoia, the Italian foreign minister, will leave for Paris tomorrow. Premier Nitti will go to Paris early in January.

LEAVES CAR TO AID BROTHER COP; NAB 4 FIGHTERS

A free for all fight was going good in front of 1218 North Clark street early this morning when Policeman Henry Wenholz, new on the force, arrived. His efforts to stop it were proving disastrous to him when Policeman Charles Henry, from a passing car, noticed the ruction and jumped off and went to the rescue. Between them the officers arrested four young men. They were locked up in the East Chicago avenue station. They are:

George Kries, 22, 1743 Sedgwick street.

Edward Lieberman, 22, 2130 Greenwood avenue.

Dave Nelson, 937 North Halsted street.

200,000 Prisoners Without Shelter in Siberia

GENEVA, Dec. 25.—The International Red Cross has sent out an appeal in behalf of the prisoners of war in Siberia. Two hundred thousand prisoners, for the most part Austrians and Hungarians, many of whom were captured in 1914, are living without shelter and virtually without clothing and little food.

EAGLE'S SHRIEKS AGITATE DEAH OL' LUNNON, Y'KNOW

LONDON, Dec. 25.—Because American producers have flooded the British and European markets with out of date war propaganda films, showing how America was winning the war, a situation most embarrassing to the United States has been created.

Ambassador Davis is writing W. G. McAdoo, asking the former secretary of the treasury to use his good offices to prevent the exportation of antiquated war films which producers can no longer show in America.

As an example of what is going on, a film being shown in a leading cinema theater on the Strand shows a score of Americans defeating a whole regiment of Germans.

Another theater in the Picadilly district is showing a film in which an American exposes a great spy plot in which the villain is an English duke. It was during a presentation of this film that the audience hissed the American characters and the American flag.

New Wanted to Plead Guilty, Prosecutor Says

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Harry New, charged with the murder of his sweetheart, Freda Lesser, through his attorneys a few days before he was placed on trial, offered to enter a plea of guilty to manslaughter, according to a statement today by Thomas Lee Woolwine, district attorney.

Woolwine said he would have accepted a plea of guilty to second degree murder, but refused to accept the manslaughter plea. Le Compte Davis, defense counsel, denied New had been willing to plead guilty.

Prosperity and Dry Law Lead to Uneaten Feasts

New York, Dec. 25.—Christmas dinners went begging on the Bowery tonight. Roast turkey with all its "trimmings," candy, and mince pie failed to attract half so many hungry men as were served in former years. This was attributed to prevailing prosperity and prohibition.

ENGLISH RAISE MONEY TO BUY HAIG HIS CASTLE

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 25.—In the old days England rewarded her victorious generals with great estates. Blenheim, still the seat of the Dukes of Marlborough, was the great duke's reward for winning British victories, and Wellington received some 20,000 acres of English land for beating Napoleon.

The generals of the great war received money grants only, but the British people have determined that Field Marshal Haig is entitled to further recognition. A movement has been started to present him with the castle and estates which were the cradle of his family, and which have been its home for 700 years.

Bemersyde on the Tweed is one of the most famous border castles in Scotland. It is now in the possession of the Field Marshal's cousin, Lieut. Col. Haig, who is willing to sell it for about $215,000.

Earl Haig on his elevation to the peerage took the title Haig of Bemersyde so that the presentation to him of the estate from which he takes his title will be especially fitting.

GERMANY TO PUT LID ON EXPORTS

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—The Reichsanzeiger says that an order of export trade control will be issued shortly empowering the national economic minister to forbid the export of goods of every kind, so that exports will require the permission of the national commissary, who can transfer his authority to other bureaus. The existing central bureaus for export permission will be replaced by export permission headquarters.

To cover the rising expense to the nation, charges will be imposed according to decree of the economic minister. The export bureaus can also demand special rates to meet their additional expenses.

The money derived from export permits will be devoted to improving social conditions. The penalties for illegal export have been greatly increased. The goods will be confiscated, imprisonment has been provided for, as well as fines to triple the value of the commodities.

Jeremiah Sullivan, 19, 2923 South Canal street, was stuck up by three men last night at Poplar and Archer avenues. He battled. One of the men shot him in the arm.

6 MEN RAID JAIL IN TOLEDO; FREE 4 DESPERATE PALS

Sheriff and 3 Deputies Locked Up; Guard Shot

Toledo, O., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—A convicted murderer, a desperado, suspected of complicity in the slaying of a woman, and two notorious safe breakers and burglars are at liberty as the result of a daring jail delivery here early this morning.

Six men took part in the raid, first attacking the three jail guards. One of them shot the guard who opened the gates, took his keys, and covering the other officers with his revolver, passed the keys to his confederates waiting outside.

When all had entered the six locked two of the guards in a cell and went ahead to liberate the quartet they sought.

Sheriff Also Locked Up.

When the sheriff, alarmed in his home nearby, rushed in he also was overpowered, taken to the basement and locked in.

Deputy Sheriffs Noonan, Kelly, and Basso were in the Lucas county jail, in the heart of the business district, when a man appeared at the barred outer gate.

He said "Merry Christmas" to Noonan and stated he wanted to visit a prisoner. Noonan unbarred the gate and as the stranger entered he drew a revolver and shot Noonan in the shoulder.

Take Wounded Guard's Keys.

As the guard fell the bandit seized his keys, passed them through the bars to five others and they made their way inside.

When Kelly and Basso ran to the office they faced six revolvers and saw resistance was futile.

By this time all the prisoners were in an uproar. The bandits calmly went about their business, and with apparent knowledge of the entire situation. They liberated the four prisoners they were after and then left quickly.

An alarm sent the city police all over the city in search of the four prisoners who were freed, and their six liberators. None of the former was found; but the police captured two men, who were identified as two of the deliverers. They gave their names as Joe Snyder and "Soldier" Murphy.

All Have Prison Records.

The prisoners released were:

E. E. West, Denver, convicted three weeks ago of murder.

Charles Howard, Chicago, held in connection with the murder of a woman in a Nebraska avenue dive recently.

Charles Loach, Lima, convicted of participation in a robbery.

Leo Mitchell, a safe robber.

All of them have long prison records.

Chief Warns American Legion "Be on the Level"

Indianapolis, Ind., Dec. 25.—Department commanders, executive committeemen, alternates, and adjutants of the American Legion today were sent holiday greetings by Franklin D'Olier, national commander, in which the officers were thanked for their coöperation in the past and warned against "any future overzealous, thoughtless, or unfair act which can weaken the legion's influence for national betterment."

Tagged as Parcel, Peoria Girl Travels to Los Angeles

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Hundreds of thousands of Christmas packages came by train, automobile, boat, and even by airplane, but 6 year old Helen Meyers of Peoria, Ill., was the only human parcel. Properly tagged, she left Peoria consigned to her uncle, Bert Totman, one of the letter carriers attached to the Santa Monica postoffice. She rode in and ate in mail cars during most of the trip.

RATIFY PEACE IN TWO WEEKS, GERMAN BELIEF

War at End When Allies Verify Foe's Tonnage.

PARIS, Dec. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The final date of the repeatedly postponed exchange of ratifications of the treaty of Versailles now depends upon the speed with which the allied missions in Germany can verify the German figures of available floating dock tonnage demanded by the allies as compensation for the sinking of the German warships at Scapa Flow.

The Associated Press was informed to this effect today at the headquarters of the German peace delegation.

Baron von Lersner, head of the German representatives, said he thought this would take at least a fortnight, if not longer, in view of the difficulties of transportation in Germany and the detail involved in verifying the figures.

Not to Blame, German Says.

"A decided misunderstanding is reflected in the Paris press during the last two days regarding my projected trip to Berlin, which I subsequently abandoned," he said. "I thought a verbal explanation of the situation to the government would facilitate matters. The inference by the French papers that the German government wanted to delay the exchange of ratifications is absolutely unfounded. We want nothing more than effective restoration of peace.

"Peace means the repatriation of our soldiers, prisoners in France, who are obliged to spend another Christmas in capitivity, though hostilities have been suspended for more than a year.

Disloyalty Is Denied.

"I want to say that the statements in the French press that we were disloyal and gave out wrong figures on harbor material sought in payment of the Scapa Flow losses is absolutely unfounded. This the investigation should prove. I promised M. Dutasta to ask my government to give all facilities for such investigation, and have no doubt that they will be accorded at once.

"We both agreed that it should be possible in a short time to verify our statements and come to a definite agreement regarding harbor materials to be delivered by Germany. I hope that our expectations will soon be fulfilled and that peace will finally be put into effect."

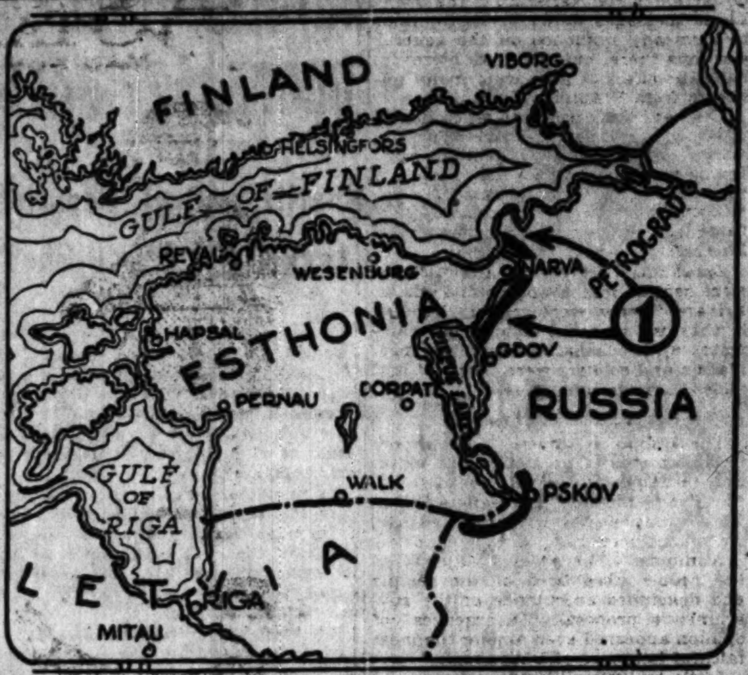
CONCESSIONS BY REDS



1. The bolsheviki are reported to have made further concessions to the Esthonians to expedite peace. The Esthonians will not be called upon to evacuate the Narva front. It is also assumed Esthonia will not allow Yudenitch's troops to use Esthonia as a base for a drive against Petrograd.

AMERICANS FIND PRE-WAR GOODS INTACT IN BERLIN

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[By Special Cable.]

BERLIN, Dec. 25.—Americans now visiting in Berlin who have lived here before the war, are telling today how pleased they are to find all the furnishings of their apartments intact and in good condition and to get such high prices when their goods are sold.

A hearer of one of these men interrupted with a question whether or not he had not filed with the United States government a claim to payment for his property as lost. With a start of recollection he admitted he had.

This man may or may not withdraw his claim, but probably there are hundreds of similar cases in which, unless there is a careful investigation, payment may be made for property here awaiting the American owner's claim.

In many instances the furniture is still in the apartments where left.

And one of the biggest sources of pride of responsible German officials has been the care taken of such alien property. German citizens entrusted with the custody of these alien effects have been held strictly to account.

12 I. W. W. HELD IN NEBRASKA.

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 25.—Gov. McKelvie has informed Attorney General Palmer, in answer to an inquiry, that there are twelve I. W. W. in custody in Nebraska, and that they will be prosecuted in due time.

JAPAN EXPECTS TO FORGE AHEAD WITHOUT A FALL

TOKIO, Dec. 23.—[Delayed.]—On the eve of the formal opening of the diet, Premier Hara issued a statement asserting that "many problems exist, some of them not easy of solution."

"Extension of the franchise, the internal food problem, and foreign diplomacy, especially with reference to China, stare us in the face," he said, "demanding study before a solution can be reached. The government is optimistic, however, and expects to encounter no serious obstacles.

"Concerning the franchise we are prepared to meet the will of the people."

"I am convinced," said Premier Hara, "that Japan is advancing with the rest of the civilized world, and is not going behind or against it. Japan can go forward with faith in its future."

ESTHONIANS AND "REDS" AGREE ON NEW FRONTIERS

May Sign "Preliminary Armistice" Soon.

DORPAT, Dec. 24.—Delayed.—It was officially announced tonight that the Esthonian and bolshevik delegates had reached an agreement on the questions of frontiers and military guarantees.

It was stated that they probably would sign what was designated as a "preliminary armistice" during the night.

In some quarters it is said the bolsheviki are willing to concede that it will not be necessary for the Esthonian army to give up the Narva front, to which the Esthonian government has been offering strong objections for strategic reasons.

No Trouble from Yudenitch.

From the current developments the assumption here is that the question of Gen. Yudenitch's troops will be satisfactorily settled and assurances given that there will be no further operations against the bolsheviki from Esthonia.

Plan Baltic Conference.

RIGA, Dec. 22.—[Delayed.]—As the result of conferences here it has been decided to hold a meeting at Helsingfors the first week in January, at which all the Baltic border states will be represented, for the purpose of expediting the formation of a league of the states bordering on Russia. The question of these states jointly making terms with the bolsheviki will also be thrashed out at this conference.

Ukraine Protests Against Mandatory in Galicia

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—Protest against the action of the supreme council at Paris in granting to Poland mandatory powers for twenty-five years over the territory of eastern Galicia, 65 per cent of whose population claim to be Ukrainians, is made by Julian Batchinsky, diplomatic representative of the Ukrainian people's republic, in a memorandum addressed to Secretary Lansing.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS EUROPE'S CLUB FOR LOOTING CAUCASUS

BY PAXTON HIBBIN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

TIFLIS, Dec. 19.—[Delayed.]—Four infant tottering republics in the Caucasus have appealed to the United States for protection, clinging to Wilson's fourteen points as to a sort of composite Bible of nationalism.

These governments — Armenians, Georgians, the Tartars of the republic of Azerbaidjan, and the Circassians of the North Caucusus republic—are composed of peoples as distinct as the Italians and Swedes and once constituted the vice-royalty of the Transcaucasus under the rule of the Romanoffs.

At the bedside of dying nationalism in Transcaucasia are various allied missions which have swarmed to Tiflis as conditions have gradually grown worse. They run from the bedside of agonising liberty with armloads of plunder—railroads, oil wells, copper mines, manganese fields, silk orchards, banks, and what not.

The only foreigners in Transcaucasia who are disinterested, who are holding out a helping hand and feed the tens of thousands of starving and emaciated children, are the Americans.

Jean St. Cyr in Critical Condition from Operation

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Jean St. Cyr, society's "man of mystery," is in a critical condition in Dr. George Roe Lockwood's sanitarium, 18 East Fifty-second street, following an operation last Saturday morning for gangrenous appendicitis.

At the sanitarium it was said tonight St. Cyr's condition was decidedly critical, and that assurances of his recovery would have to be withheld for four or five days.

St. Cyr came into prominence in 1909, when he courted and married Mrs. Caroline P. Redfield, wealthy Hartford widow. The ensuing comment caused the couple to move from that city. On her death St. Cyr received the bulk of her fortune.

In April, 1915, he married secretly Mrs. James Henry Smith, socially prominent in America and Europe and widow of "Silent" Smith.

ALLIES HOLD UP AMERICAN AID FOR UKRAINIA

$12,500,000 of A. E. F. Supplies Stopped.

BY THOMAS STEWART RYAN
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

WARSAW, Dec. 20.—Delayed.—In an interview given me in Kamienetz-Podolski, T. Mazeppa, president of the Ukrainian council of ministers, predicted that once the Ukraine had fallen Denikine would cope ineffectually with peasant uprisings and be alone against bolshevik attacks, the bolsheviki occupying all south Russia for the third time.

Mazeppa is a little man, with the air of a hard worked student. While we talked in the premier's cabinet, two wax candles flickered between us, for only two days a week did the capital of Ukraine have electricity.

Flays Great Britain.

Bitterly Mazeppa flayed Great Britain, whom he declared the author of the blockade. The old imperial factories, he said, are in bolshevik hands. Ukraine, assailed by Denikine, must look abroad for supplies. On the Polish frontier, he said, carloads of supplies were held up by the entente's order, and Roumania, though well disposed, is likewise forced to hold off through England's threat of blockade.

The motive for French and British hostility to Ukraine, Mazeppa declared to be Russian money sprinkled throughout old Europe.

Where Are Those Fourteen Points?

"In the hour of her agony," continued Mazeppa, "Ukraine looks to the United States for aid. First of all, she asks America to recognize her independence of Russia, in accordance with Wilson's fourteen points. We do not expect recognition from England and France. But the American people, we feel, must understand us, a people fighting for freedom.

"America we know for our friend, because she has already given us five years' credit on $12,500,000 worth of clothing and ammunition from her own army supplies in France. To be sure, the shipments would likely not reach us because of the blockade, as they have not reached us yet. But we shall remember that America wanted to help us, and if we become a nation again we shall give all the advantages to American capital.

Better Reds than Denikine.

"It was the Ukrainian peasant who rose against the bolsheviki and drove them northward. Now the same peasant says, 'Better to have the bolsheviki than Denikine.' He refuses to mobilize for the White guard. And our generals believe that the bolshevik army will push Denikine to Odessa in two months."

Then came, of course, the question: "Are you receiving aid from Germany?" Mazeppa replied: "We are as much alone as Robinson Crusoe. No one is helping us.

"The situation is dark. But you fought eight years for your freedom and we have fought only two as yet. We still have plenty of time. And though the Ukraine may pass from sight it cannot die."

Kaiser Has Christmas Tree; Visited by Prince

AMERONGEN, Dec. 25.—[By the Associated Press.]—The former German Crown Prince Frederick reached here today to spend with his parents their second Christmas in exile. J. B. Kan, secretary of general affairs of the Dutch government, Burgomaster Pearboom of Wieringen, members of the Von Bentinck family, and some of the Amerongen functionaries were guests at a banquet in the great hall of Bentinck castle. This was the climax of a celebration arranged by the former emperor personally. From a huge Christmas tree the former ruler distributed gifts.

Kidland Has Its Triangles, Too

Swain Who Sought Refuge in Ash Can When Rival Beauties Contended for His Affections, the "Women in the Case," and His Sister.

Bennie Sokolowski

Annie Barzyk
Mary Sokolowski

Florence Moeller

TWO LADY LOVES AND SANTA DRIVE SWAIN TO ASHCAN

Ben, 12, on Mend, but Annie Is Weeping.

And so he climbed into an ashcan to wait for death.

It was a complication of causes that drove 12 year old Bennie Sokolowski into an alien alley and bade him hide where only the sackcloth was missing. In the first place, it was Christmas eve—and he was afraid of Santa Claus! In the second and third places—"women."

For Bennie, be it known, is fair to look upon. Both 13 year old Annie Barzyk, who lives in the flat above him at 904 West Erie street, and 10 year old Florence Moeller, who lives next door, had looked upon him when he moved into the neighborhood at Thanksgiving time and were pleased. In fact, they loved him, and said so.

True Love Speaks Out.

Annie's confession of affection was contained in a note which was found clutched in the numb fist of little Bennie when the policeman came upon him Christmas morning, huddled unconscious in the battered old ashcan many blocks from home.

It read:

"My dear Husband Bennie: I know you love Florence. I know you don't love me. Do you love me, Bennie? If you only knew how I love you! O, boy! I love you so I could kiss you now. Don't tell Florence I love you, or she'll be mad! If you knew how she loves you! I hate her, but if you love her better than me you can have her.

"I love you, dear.

"I love you, dear.

"ANNIE BARZYK."

When found at her home last night Annie was in tears. It was a long while before she would say a word.

A Woman Scorned.

"Florence and I were sliding on some ice last Monday," she said, "and Florence told me Bennie loved her. I had always thought he loved me. So I went upstairs and wrote him a note . . .

"He never said anything to me about reading it. But yesterday he was playing in our house. When he and mother and I went down in the basement to get some coal, he told me he was afraid of Santa Claus, but he didn't say anything about love. Then he went away."

Investigation disclosed that Bennie had disappeared immediately after that. The police seem to favor the theory that he was distracted over his inability to choose between the two consuming fires of love, and in despondency had sought the cooling quietness of the ash can.

Love? Naw—Santa Claus!

Bennie himself, in his bed at the county hospital, where he is rapidly recovering from the effects of exposure, refused to throw much light on the real cause of his attempted self-effacement.

"Do you love Annie?" he was asked. He shook his head.

"Do you love Florence?" Once more his head moved in negation.

"Well—well, why did you hide in the ash can?"

"I was afraid of Santa Claus."

It is pointed out, however, that he probably was trying to shield the "women in the case" from any blame by thus passing the buck to the well known toy manufacturer.

Florence could not be found. She was making merry at a Christmas party somewhere in Chicago. But Annie—well, Annie is suffering all the torments. And she continues to protest her undying affection.

U.S. Won't Even Let People Cross to Mexico for a Drink

El Paso, Tex., Dec. 25.—Hundreds of El Pasoans and tourists who planned to visit Juarez, Mexico, today, where liquors of all kinds can be bought, were turned back at the international bridge between the two cities. No temporary one day passports were issued today and the only persons allowed to cross the Rio Grande were those holding permanent passports.

ALIENS MOB SHIP TO SEE RELATIVES

New York, Dec. 25.—Police reserves were called tonight when a crowd of foreigners attempted to storm the Fabre line pier in Brooklyn in order to reach friends and relatives on the steamship Patri, which docked Tuesday with 1,300 steerage passengers. The pier guard was overpowered, but the police halted the mob before any one reached the vessel.

Because of the crowded conditions at Ellis island the immigration authorities have been conducting entrance examinations on board the liner. The work has been slow. Tonight the crowd became impatient and attempted to rush the pier.

SHIP STORK DROPS BABE AND $2,000

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—An interesting event during the voyage of the Mauretania, which arrived today, was the birth of a daughter in the steerage to Mr. and Mrs. Astley of London. As soon as the other passengers heard the news a purse of more than $700 was raised for the Christmas baby.

A Mr. Klingsmith, representing an automobile concern, told the parents if they named the baby after him he would give the child an automobile.

They named the little one Frances Maura Klingsmith Astley and an order for an automobile was given the parents. The parents then raffled off the machine and raised $1,301.

THUMBS DOWN FOR D'ANNUNZIO IN FIUME ARENA

Exiled Deputy Undermines Flamboyant Poet.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
[Copyright: 1919.]

ROME, Dec. 24.—D'Annunzio is now undergoing the fate all those popular idols who one day can sway the masses or undertake any act however arduous and next day are turned down by those same people who lauded them to the skies.

The Tempo publishes several columns dealing with the internal situation of the Fiume controversy between the poet and the deputy of Fiume, Zanella. According to the newspaper D'Annunzio demanded unconditional obedience from Zanella, who rebelled at this unjust injunction, especially after the commander had him continually watched by carabiniers and detectives and threatened that he would be court martialed. This was the beginning of a violent quarrel between D'Annunzio and the deputy.

Fought Poet From Far.

From Italy where the deputy had taken refuge he smuggled manifestoes into Fiume calling upon the people to overthrow the poet's yoke and trust the government's assurances of its protection of the Italianity of the town. These messages didn't arrive in time to have any influence on the general elections there, but they did, however, have the effect of alienating many followers from D'Annunzio's ranks.

The next clash occurred when Zanella issued a manifesto enumerating the Italian government's conditions and promises to the Fiume people, calling upon them all to participate in the referendum. Upon the appearance of these leaflets D'Annunzio issued orders for their immediate suppression.

Carabiniers, soldiers, and officers were sent to search houses and offices. Private citizens were roughly handled if they were seen reading the manifesto, while clashes between the population and soldiers were frequent and violent arrests numerous.

Suppression of No Avail.

The Tempo continues, "but military terrorism was of no avail. The agitation initiated by Zanella spread rapidly. The manifestoes and leaflets demolished with powerful strokes the authority of the national council and of D'Annunzio. The greater majority of the people were tired of the régime and demanded acceptance of the government's proposal. Divergences of opinion appeared even among the most faithful followers of D'Annunzio."

Little by little all Fiume citizens and the more serious officers recognized the necessity of having a referendum to decide the acceptance of the government's proposal. D'Annunzio was greatly embarrassed by the way affairs were proceeding and therefore began one of his usual high sounding speeches, paraded the streets in Arditi uniform, certain of having gained all the votes. But when he saw the voting was going against him, D'Annunzio ordered the suspension of the plebiscite, giving as an excuse the illegality of the proceeding, "declaring that given his military and civil powers, he alone will decide on the proposals of the government."

THE STRIKE IN ESSENTIAL INDUSTRIES.

Recent experience of the cost and widespread peril of strikes in essential industries has brought before congress the duty of providing measures of public defense. The need for congressional action has been emphasized by the threatening tone and attitude of the heads of the railroad brotherhoods, who have virtually given the country notice that unless the price of commodities is soon lowered a further raise of wages will be insisted upon.

We have just avoided a national disaster from a general tieup of the coal mines. A general railroad walkout would be as bad.

The leaders of organized labor declare that prohibiting the right to strike is to impose involuntary servitude upon the worker.

The public might reply that to deprive a whole nation of a service or commodity essential to life is to destroy the freedom of the nation.

We think justice can find a way to avoid both the involuntary servitude of the worker and the destruction of public freedom. In any case the right of society to exist is paramount to any right of the individual and must be enforced by adequate measures unless we are ready to accept a new tyranny or anarchy.

To protect the nation from the strangulation involved in a paralysis of its transportation by strike, it has been proposed in the Cummins bill for railroad regulation to make a concerted walkout in this industry unlawful. At the same time elaborate means for the presentation and impartial adjudication of railroad workers' claims and complaints are provided.

We do not think the charge that this in itself imposes involuntary servitude upon railroad employés will carry much weight with fair minds. Every member of civilized society must recognize limitations of liberty. Involuntary servitude is servitude of the individual. It would exist if a law were passed prohibiting a railroad worker from leaving his work as an individual for any reason. Strikes are collective action, and civilized society always has claimed and asserted the right to limit collective action. In a walkout it is not the intention of the worker to leave his occupation as an individual because he is dissatisfied with it. In a walkout he agrees with others to stop work only temporarily and with the purpose of forcing acceptance of demands.

To prohibit this method of enforcing demands is in no sense imposing involuntary servitude. Servitude is not imposed upon the individual by such a law. He is not compelled to serve. If he wishes to withdraw from the service as an individual he is free to do so. What has in reality happened is that society, in order to protect its life, has declared that men shall not enter upon a service which is necessary to it and then combine together to withhold that service for the purpose, not of leaving the service permanently, which is still their right as individuals, but of compelling acquiescence to their demands while in the service.

Thus the right of society is clear. But there are important reservations. They arise from the fact that it is not the public which employs the railroad worker, but private corporations existing for profit. The workers, therefore, urge that to deprive them of the right to strike is to submit them to the final refusal of their private employers to remedy grievances or grant adequate compensation.

This argument does not affect the right of the public to self-protection. But it does impose upon it the duty of protecting the worker from imposition by his private employer. To meet this duty the Cummins bill establishes an elaborate means of arbitrating differences. Ten years ago this would have been hailed as a great victory for labor. At that time labor, being weaker, was all for arbitration, and employers often stubbornly refused it. Now that the parties are more nearly equal, labor has lost its respect for the principle of arbitration, which it formerly appealed to and acclaimed, and where it possesses great power, as in the essential industries, is as ruthless in refusing it as any tory employer of the old days.

Which proves that if the public is to be protected, it must devise means of protecting itself. Neither side of industrial controversies can be trusted to sacrifice a strong position out of respect for an abstract right. This is a human fact, and it must be faced and dealt with as a condition.

But, while asserting the unchallengeable right of society to prohibit workers in an essential service from enforcing their demands at the expense of public danger and loss, there are questions of method and policy which may be, and ought to be, considered. A discussion of these must be postponed to another day.

MAKE THE DOLLAR WORK.

Sixteen dollars for a silk shirt isn't giving money a fair chance to demonstrate its energy. Sixteen dollars will buy four or eight shirts, according as the texture or style varies—but any of the four or the eight surpassing the silk shirt in durability.

We apologize for seeming to single out the silk shirt as the horrible example in our little sermon on economy. It is equally as honest and upright a shirt as one of calico. But it induces men to strange lengths of imprudence.

The silk shirt does this and so do the $20 pair of shoes, the $100 suit, the $2 socks, the $18 underwear, and the $5 necktie. We may cross the line of neutrality and comment on the imprudence of the $500 Hudson seal coat, the $10 stockings, the $200 gowns, and all the rest. Or we may comment upon the home and costly furniture and amazing linens and bewildering meals laid upon surpassing tables.

We are putting on all the traffic will bear.

With many of us it is no longer a question of what we require for comfort and sustenance, but of how far we may exceed the requirements. Substantial shoes and clothing are to be had at a minimum. Then why pay the maximum? Two dollars for a shirt should put $14 in the bank. Lisle socks or stockings at 50 cents or 75 cents should put a dollar or two in the savings account. A warm coat for $50 ought to drop another $50 to $450 in the purse.

We ought to get away from the maximum. It's costly business. It keeps us no warmer, feeds us no better, and offers no increase of self-respect. How substantial is pride in a silk shirt and an empty purse?

TO LODGE, MONDELL, WADSWORTH, KAHN, PAGE AND BUTLER.

The refusal of past congresses to make proper provisions for the army and navy of the United States has been paid for in the lives of our soldiers in every war of the republic.

This is a truism of our history. Yet it has been shamefully ignored by the men who, in previous congresses, would not rise above the indifference and ignorance of their constituents.

We have just had another lesson, a lesson written in our best blood.

Will congress have the hardihood to turn its back on it?

And if congress does, will the American people approve their folly?

We cannot believe it. Congress has been told that half our losses were unnecessary and could have been saved by training. Congress has had demonstrated before its eyes the scale and scope and tremendous complexities of modern war. If it is capable of responsible thought, congress knows that we must maintain an adequate navy and army at all times if we would not again throw away the lives of our young men on the battlefield.

We entered this war unprepared as we have entered every other war. The secretary of war then said he was glad we were unprepared and always would be unprepared. But Secretary Baker, fresh from the peace society, and Secretary Baker, who has borne the burden of office through a great war, are different men. Today he is asking for an adequate army. Today he knows what it costs in innocent human life and in the agony of men and women to be unprepared.

If any congressman has not learned this lesson, he is unfit for his office. If any leader of either house has not learned it, he is unfit for leadership. If the American people have not learned it, they will learn it another day in anguish.

At this time, though the world is still in turmoil, congress refuses a living wage to the men of the navy and the army. As a result the best material in the officer corps, the young men whose future is before them, are being forced out of the service.

This is an irreparable loss.

Congress excuses this folly by talking of economy. We say to congress that this economy is the stupidest of extravagance. We say to congress that every dollar it pretends to save by this sacrifice of national defense will be paid for in the blood of Americans sacrificed to the blind folly of their representatives.

The American people want no such economy.

Congress has not been sufficiently devoted to economy to create a budget system that will save millions. But now it talks economy when the honor and safety of the nation are at stake. It talks economy when the lives of the boys who in the next war go forth to defend our country are at stake.

The attitude and action of congress on the question of defense are a crime against the country. They are a gross misinterpretation of the public conscience. They are a gross failure of the representatives of the people to consider and conserve the vital interests of the nation.

If Republican leadership can do no better than this, it deserves to be repudiated at the polls. And responsibility is not going to be lost in the anonymity of a large body. Responsibility for action or inaction is going to be brought home to individuals. The cost of congressional economy in defense may not be realized tomorrow. We devoutly hope it will not be. But if this wrong is perpetuated THE TRIBUNE for one will blazon their guilt across the reputations of the men who in this congress were responsible.

We appeal especially to Senator Lodge, Republican leader in the senate; to Representative Mondell, Republican leader in the house; to Senator Wadsworth, chairman of the senate military affairs committee, and to Senator Page of the senate naval affairs committee; to Representative Kahn, chairman of the house military affairs committee, and Representative Butler of the naval affairs committee, to see to it without fail that the defense of the nation on land and sea, now rapidly disintegrating, be firmly established.

If they do not, the blood of the American defenders of the future will be on their consciences.

Editorial of the Day

FINDING HIS PLACE.

[Champaign News-Gazette.]

In commenting editorially on the constitutional convention, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE says:

"Chicago cannot afford to dismiss the downstate demand for a restriction of city representation in the legislature stubbornly. It is a real issue and one which must be met wisely. It has prevented the redistricting of the state for legislative and congressional purposes for nearly ten years. It will be raised in the constitutional convention and Chicago must consider the downstate equities.

"This city is a part of Illinois and wants, or should want, to be a part accepted without fear or prejudice, and to play its natural part and earn the confidence of the state."

If the Chicago delegates to the convention can keep this in mind and act accordingly, much time will be saved and Illinois will probably be given a much better constitution than it will get otherwise.

If Chicago can acknowledge that she is only a part of Illinois, much of the friction will be eliminated before it develops. The downstate realizes that Chicago is a most important part of the state, but is also of the opinion that the city, however great, must not so dominate the work of legislation as to imperil the interests of the rest of the state. No sane person in the state desires to do anything that will hamper Chicago or withhold anything that will aid her progress, but many things outside of Cook county cannot be regulated according to the needs and demands of the city. This being true, it cannot be expected that the state outside will willingly consent to political dominance on the part of the city.

LAST LINES OF HERBERT CAXTON.

Sir: As a high token of appreciation for the privilege granted me of placing before your more serious minded readers the circumstances of the decease of the late Prof. Herbert Caxton, and of the noteworthy ceremonial attendant upon his internment, if I may use that term without fear of ambiguity, I tender for publication (copyright being reserved in the name of his heirs or assigns) what is probably the final product of his pen. To this Mr. R. B. Peattie, who is Prof. Caxton's literary co-executor with me, has given consent. Mr. Peattie, by the way, is already at work on a biography of his lamented friend, a work which is destined to be the definitive authority on the life and works of Caxton.

The lines inclosed were written, it is interesting to note, at the end of the fall publishing season, on a blank page torn from the latest work of Harold Bell Wright. The volume itself was found by the maid Selma in a dark corner of the library. The same informant tells me, not without some irrision, that it was the habit of Prof. Caxton to throw the works of Mr. Wright at the cat Ligeia, to which he was nevertheless in normal mood affectionately attached.

BEWARE FLAVORED WELLS.

DOES the well water taste sweet? Beware! It may be flavored with woodpecker. Dr. A. E. Campbell, superintendent of health of Springfield, tells of a well at a railroad terminal and serving a large restaurant. This well was not at Springfield. The customers and neighbors boasted of the flavor of the water from this well. It was the sweetest water in all that section. They cleaned out the well, and got a woodpecker, a snake, a rat, and several mice.

This story Dr. Campbell followed with another. He once owned a well the water from which was so much the best in town that the neighbors came for it from some distance away. Early one morning a number of neighbors were waiting for water for the breakfast table when Dr. Campbell pumped up a rat.

He supplemented these two stories by telling of one household where five people were made sick from drinking well water and a second where three were likewise affected.

Ordinary shallow wells draw seepage from the surrounding soil for perhaps 100 feet. In this seepage there may be pollution from a yard privy, a stable, a cesspool, or from slops thrown on the ground. In this seepage there may be typhoid bacilli or other disease producing bacteria.

The merit of Dr. Campbell's communication lies in his advice as to what can be done for some people who must use shallow wells. They have no other water supply. He advises that the well should be located properly and that the top be made rat proof and as nearly water proof as possible. The novel part of his recommendation relates to the method of preventing seepage.

"You can prevent seepage pollution," he says, "by adopting the following: Clean out your well and extend a three inch iron pipe to the bottom of the well, having the lower three feet perforated. This pipe should extend above the surface of the ground about one foot. Assuming that your well is twenty-four feet deep, if you think water comes in at the bottom you should have two or three feet of fine sand at the bottom, then fill around the perforations with broken brick for seven feet, then crushed rock about five feet, coarse sand four feet, and fine sand up to the surface of the ground. Now put four inches of white clay over the sand, extending this beyond the edge of the well. Over this put watertight concrete which is four inches higher at the pump than at the outer edge. Now place your pump in the pipe. You need have no fear of any surface contamination getting into your well water. All surface water that may reach the perforation will be well filtered and you will have a reasonably safe water supply."

THE PROPER WEIGHT.

Constant Reader writes: "1. Will you please tell me what a woman of 34, 5 ft. 6 in. tall, should weigh? 2. Also please advise if a strenuous diet at this time of year would be injurious to the health. 3. Of what benefit are the rubber reducing garments, and would you advise wearing them?"

REPLY.

1. 141 pounds.

2. The diet in winter should be somewhat heavier than in summer. Maintaining temperature in zero weather requires food. Do not interpret this as meaning that you are justified in gorging.

3. These are of some service in reducing the sections of the body which they compress. Wearing them does not do away with the necessity for dieting.

AFTER EFFECTS OF "FLU."

Mrs. J. W. T. writes: "My little daughter, aged 3, has been troubled with her kidneys ever since she had the 'flu' a year ago. She has a desire to urinate every fifteen or twenty minutes. She wets the bed almost every night. The urine scalds her very badly at times. I had sample tests last summer, but no signs of sugar or albumin appeared then. She drinks nothing but water, and that moderately, but has a tendency to eat food rich in protein. She cannot drink milk, as it seems to gag her. She is a sound sleeper, but nervous in her sleep at times. She is healthy looking, with rosy cheeks and bright eyes, and is seldom sick.

"1. Do you think she will outgrow this habit or it is dangerous to let it go? Should I have her urine tested again?

"2. (a) Do you think she eats too much protein? (b) Is it necessary for her to drink milk?

"3. What kind of a diet would you put her on?

"4. Do you think she has kidney trouble?

"We are a long distance from a physician."

REPLY.

1. The condition should be attended to.

2. (a) Yes. (b) If she can get plenty of spinach, greens, and other green vegetables she can get along fairly well without milk. If she vomits sweet milk try cheese, butter, cottage cheese, sour milk, buttermilk, milk custards, and other forms of food made from milk.

3. Oatmeal and other cereals, bread, vegetables, fruit, a little meat, and some milk or milk products. Bread, cereal, vegetables, and fruit should constitute the bulk of her diet.

4. No.

SEEKS RELIEF FROM CHILBLAINS.

P. G. M. writes: "I would be exceedingly grateful to you if you could tell me in your column a way whereby I can secure relief from or a cure of chilblains. There is no chiropodist in this small town, and each time the weather gets cold I have considerable trouble, such as tenderness, swelling, and in some instances a breaking of the skin, causing bleeding."

REPLY.

Wear woolen socks and large, loose, warm shoes. Keep your feet warm and dry. If you get them very cold do not warm them over a radiator. After washing your feet nightly in cold water and rubbing them well, dry with a soft cloth and rub with any oil. When itching is troublesome use olive oil containing one-half of 1 per cent menthol.

THE FRIEND OF THE SOLDIER

Address inquiries to Friend of the Soldier, Chicago Tribune. Answers to as many as possible will be published in this department. To insure a personal reply an addressed and stamped envelope should be inclosed.

No attention will be paid to anonymous letters.

RETURN OF PREMIUMS.

Carthage, Ill. Dec. 23.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I notice from the information about my government insurance sent me by the government insurance office, 1307 Stock Exchange building, Chicago, that I can pay my government insurance premiums monthly, or quarterly, or semi-annually, or annually. Now if I shoud pay a year in advance and not live over two months of that time, would I lose all that I had paid in? E. H. S.

Not with your government policies. In the case you mention the government would return the premiums for ten months and you would only have to pay the two months during which you were protected. Government insurance premiums are payable monthly on the first of the month and the director of the bureau has ruled that any advance payment made by an ex-service man shall be returned in the event of his death.

THE BEST POLICY.

Fargo, Ill., Dec. 21.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I am carrying my war risk insurance, but want to change it to a permanent government policy for all I can afford. I am married, age 29, with a family, and my wages are not high. What kind of a policy would you suggest? A. E. H.

Of course, the kind of policy depends upon the conditions of the man, as to age, responsibilities, and financial condition. For a man in your circumstances we would suggest a straight life policy or a twenty payment life policy. The straight life will give your folks the greatest protection for the least money; in the twenty payment policy you only pay for twenty years, and, without further payment, no matter how long you live, your beneficiaries would receive the benefit of your insurance should you die, or you would receive an income for life if you were permanently totally disabled.

TO RECOVER PAY.

Chicago, Dec. 22.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I have a little matter to take up with the government but don't know what department to write to about it. When I was discharged from Camp Sherman a month's pay was held back on account of transfer. Whom would I write to to get this money? L. R. S.

Write to the auditor for the war department, Washington, D. C., giving your full name, rank, and organization to which you belonged before and after transfer; also the date on which you received your last pay.

NAVAL RESERVISTS.

Winona, Minn., Dec. 22.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—Referring to the regular four year enrollment in the United States naval reserve force, under which enrollment I served seven months during the war, will I be subject to call for further training of a few weeks' duration in the summer months of each year until the expiration of this enrollment term? What pay do I get?

Could I resign in case I am not needed for training in the summers? What procedure is necessary to resign, and to whom should I direct such a letter?

G. H.

A man enlisted in the naval reserve force is required to serve at least three months on active duty during each four year period. As you have served the stipulated time you will not be called for training.

You will be paid $12 a year retainer pay, which will be paid to you annually.

You are not permitted to resign, but are subject to call in case of emergency.

TRAVEL PAY TO RESIDENCE.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—My home is in Iowa, but when I enlisted in the army I was in Cincinnati, O. I enlisted there. Is Ohio giving any bonds? When I received travel pay from camp it was to Cincinnati. I wish to go to Iowa. All my records show that my home is there. If I go there won't the government give me extra travel allowance? G. F.

Travel pay of an enlisted man is from the place of his discharge to his "bona fide residence," which in your case would be to your home in Iowa. You can collect this amount by applying to the travel pay section of the zone finance office, Lemon building, Washington, D. C. However, they will have to look up all records and it will be some time before you can recover this amount, so if you intend to go home very soon do not depend on this government allowance for traveling, as it will be several weeks before it is paid to you.

ALLOTMENT REFUND.

Peoria, Ill., Dec. 23.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—A friend of mine, whose husband was discharged from the army this fall, has just been notified by the government that she has been overpaid in allotment to the amount of over $100, and they want her to return it at once. She is unable to do so because since his discharge she has been divorced and has never received alimony. What would you suggest that she do? J. B.

As the government has directed that she return the money it is necessary for her to do so. But if she will write to the allotment section of the war risk insurance bureau, Washington, D. C., explaining her circumstances, they will probably make some arrangement for extending the time of the payment.

NATIONAL GUARD COMMISSION.

Mattoon, Ill., Dec. 24.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—I have my commission as captain in the national guard. I am not in active service, of course, but am wondering if I will get any pay, anyway. How long is this good for—the commission, I mean? M. E.

You will not be paid while not on active duty. The commission is good until you reach the age of 55, when you should resign.

POLICY OPTIONS.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—[Friend of the Soldier.]—In my government insurance, if I should carry it for a few years, would the government make any refund of what I had already paid in or a per cent of the amount? B. C.

If you should stop payment on your policy before it is due, the government offers you one of three courses, and you can only have one course to follow. You can take cash for your policy; you can retain your insurance for a less amount than the face of the policy; or you can have your insurance extended for as many years as the payment you made when carrying the insurance will pay for.

SEPARATE MAINTENANCE.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I am a poor woman, and about six years ago I had to get separate maintenance allowance from my husband by the court. I have to go to Toronto, Canada, to friends for a few months in the summer, but while I am there he does not send me my allowance. He has a good job and his pay is over $300 a month steady.

1. Is it wrong for me to go to visit my friends, and has he a right not to pay me while I am there? 2. Can a lawyer collect my money for me at so much on the dollar and send it to me? J. H.

1. No. 2. We advise you to wait and collect it after your return.

WHAT ARE GARAGES FOR?

Chicago, Dec. 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Have truck space at the Burlington garage, which is located at Sixteenth and Ashland avenue, for the last two months. Last Saturday said garage owner failed to have enough heat at the garage and my truck froze and caused it to crack one of the cylinders and numerous other repairs. Have said truck now at a repair shop. Can I make garage owner pay for same? Or shall I have to have a lawsuit? F. S.

Chicago, Dec. 23.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A borrows $2,000 cash from B, giving B a five year note for that amount. The note was signed by A and his wife [second wife—first one died many years ago]. Now what I would like to know is, in the event of A's death before the note is paid would this note be paid from A's estate before same is divided among the heirs [there is a will], or would the note become the personal obligation of A's widow and could A's widow be compelled to pay the note out of her dower interest in A's estate? A's wife does not have an independent income. H. A. P.

1. Yes. 2. Yes.

NO WILL NECESSARY.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Am a resident of Illinois. My lawyer tells me it is not necessary for my husband to make a will; everything by law goes to me as long as we have no children or real estate. Now a party whom I consider well informed on such matters claims my lawyer to be incorrect. ANONYMOUS.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

As but limited space can be given letters in this department, writers must confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Unless they give us their full names and addresses their letters will not be considered. No manuscript will be returned unless the writer sends postage for that purpose.

TO SET MATTERS RIGHT.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The representative of the American Medical Liberty league made a statement in THE TRIBUNE of Dec. 8, 1919, which needs correction. He states, in substance, that they had investigated "several cases in which the department of health had charged some one with being a chronic disease carrier, and found there was no ground for the charge." This is a statement without any citation of such an instance. Of course, there is no truth in the statement.

A short time ago a circular published and circulated by the above named league fell into my hands. In this circular is a statement printed under a portrait of a child, recounting the horrible treatment he had received, which resulted in the amputation of a limb and finally death by pneumonia. We were interested and went to the address mentioned on the circular as the residence of the child. The number given was found to be a vacant lot, and thorough inquiry in the neighborhood brought no trace of any one by the name given having lived in the neighborhood. Then we went to the records of deaths in the department of health. No one by the name given in the circular was recorded there. No record of an amputation of a limb was found.

In order to unearth this terrible case we wrote to the American Medical Liberty league for further information. We asked for the name and address of the doctor who amputated the arm and the nurse who assisted him. They gave the name of a Mrs. Bailey, with a desk in the league's office. They stated that she was their source of information. A letter to her some two months ago asking further information brought no reply.

Now, I mention this fact about their circular to show how little reliance can be placed on any statement coming from them. We are not depriving any one of their liberty or restraining them without a sufficient reason. It is done only for the public good.

JOHN DILL ROBERTSON,
Commissioner of Health.

HE FAVORS THE U. S.

Chicago, Dec. 19.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—As I rode downtown this morning I looked up from reading the outpourings of the vox poppers and noticed, sitting across from me, a clean cut young fellow wearing an army overcoat over an outfit of rather frayed civilian clothes. Alongside him were a pair of crutches, and but one leg protruded from the bottom of his coat. Is he not deserving of more consideration than the Irish question or the British question or the relief of some Balkan province that is only a catchword in our minds? Can we not devote millions to him and to those of his companions even more unfortunate than he when we are devoting hundreds of millions to the ills of countries whose troubles are the result of centuries of rottenness and who only now are suffering from the effects of their own sins? Let congress and the newspapers forget rhetoric and generalities and play square with those who did not fail them in the hour of peril. J. H. K.

LET US HAVE PEACE.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I am a citizen of Illinois—voted for Wilson for president in 1912. And tried to "do my bit" to help win the war, but when he asked the people to continue his partisan congress in power, which had been so extremely subservient to his will, I helped to elect a Republican congress. Now, it appears that there is a desperate effort being made by certain interests, largely foreign, I believe, to stampede the senate into ratifying the league of nations.

The fact that congress alone has power to declare war carries with it the corollary fact that congress alone has the power to declare peace. If not, a declaration of war changes our form of government from a representative republic to something different. And if the president alone has power to arrange a peace treaty with our enemy nations, which the senate must accept or reject, unamended, he could neglect or refuse to make a treaty or make one scrambled with a league of nations as he has done, and so retain his great war powers, if he so willed; and as commander in chief of the army and the navy, he would be the sole arbiter of the destinies of the nation. Let us have peace. I. N. GATES.

HE CAME, SAW, AND STAYED.

Chicago, Dec. 21.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—The Voice of the People the last week has been somewhat amusing and somewhat disgusting. It reminds me of the true saying, which is: "Some church goers make the church weep." And so some English make England weep. Some Irish make Ireland weep. M. T. P. should not throw any stones at the Canucks who took Vimy Ridge and held to it. Some day our sister Canada will have a George Washington, and then factories to work up her own raw material instead of shipping most of it to British factories. Then she will grow, and by that time we in the United States will be electing our judges for life terms, with the recall, and be one big family, as should be long since. My grandparents were Canadians, of English and Irish descent, but thank God I belong on this side of the border since I was 15 years of age, where we have no European ties. Listen to the chiming of the senate bells and be real Americans, like Senator Lodge. D. J. G.

ESPECIALLY IN WINTER.

Left to right, beginning at top—O. F. Van Schroder, R. F. Bradford Jr., W. V. Saunders, W. J. McCord, and R. O. Dehlendorf.

Thirty midshipmen from Annapolis roared into Chicago yesterday afternoon. The train was five hours late, they missed their home Christmas dinners, and they gave examples of deep sea cussing. First time a holiday leave has been granted from the academy in years—and do you think those salts weren't mad?

The five in the picture are smiling, but they are half hearted smiles.

Why, the train was so late their sweethearts had gone on home, and the midshipmen have to start back again today.

Say, do you think they weren't angry? Ask Ralph F. Bradford Jr., son of the state game and fish warden He'll tell you.

INANE TO EXPECT PEACE, IGNORING GOD, PAPAL VIEW

His Holiness Addresses Cardinals on Christmas

ROME, Dec. 24.—[Delayed.]—All of the cardinals present in Rome, the patriarchs, archbishops, and ecclesiastical lay courts gathered at the vatican today to present their Christmas greetings to Pope Benedict.

Cardinal Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred college, who headed the visitors, delivered a short address. The pope replied, returning greetings and recalling the urgent necessity for aiding the poor and children of war victims.

"The necessity for faith," said the pope, "is demonstrated by the inanity of the efforts of those who vainly try to give mankind peace and welfare, forgetting or ignoring God. Peace cannot be obtained by the individual and by mankind if there is not order in both. There is no order without an acknowledgment of the dominion of God over his creatures.

Love of Neighbor Needed.

"Order also requires a mastery of spirit over matter and a practical, sincere love of man for his neighbor. At present there cannot be true peace because order has been subverted by individuals and by mankind. The moral miseries due to the war are being exploited by those who watch every opportunity to affect moral order.

"Today the spirit of independence has invaded all minds and leads them to rebellion. Today there is no shame in seeking amusements amidst the griefs and sorrows of others and there is no limit to the dissipation of wealth and the drying up of the sources thereof. All this shows that modern society has attempted to set itself above God, passing from liberty to tolerance, from tolerance to division, from division to conflict, to ostracism of God.

Natural Result Is Anarchy.

"Therefore forgetfulness of the supernatural and the triumph of the natural have led individuals to egotism and society to revolution and anarchy."

Continuing, the pope said he did not despair, as all these evils could be obviated by faith, through which order would be reëstablished and peace would triumphs. He urged upon the faithful "prayers and obedience to human and divine laws, not to ostracize God in public documents, in the schools, in law courts or public assemblies, as God is Lord not only of individuals but also of nations.

"A lasting true peace must be based on just alliances among the peoples, while vanquished nations must be condemned to suffer equitable penalties but not destruction," he said.

Woman on Way to Xmas Services Killed by Train

Mrs. Joseph Loroco, 55 years old, of Bellwood, and her daughter, Mary, 10 years old, were on their way to church for Christmas service when the mother decided to take a short cut across the tracks of the Chicago and Great Western railroad near Buckley's Crossing in Bellwood. She failed to notice a train approaching and stepped into its path. The locomotive struck her, killing her instantly. Mary, some distance ahead of her mother, had safely passed.

FIANCEE OF ARMY OFFICER SLAIN IN LOUISVILLE

Police Scout Suicide of Doctor's Assistant.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Investigation today revealed that Miss Elizabeth Ford Griffith, 17 year old fiancé of Capt. George K. Jordon, 7th F. A., 1st division, who was found with a bullet through her heart in the office of Dr. Christopher G. Schott yesterday afternoon, was murdered.

All efforts of the police to find the persons who visited Dr. Schott's office between noon and 3:30 o'clock have failed, as during that time Dr. Schott declares he was distributing Christmas gifts among his patients.

Formerly Engaged to Physician.

Miss Griffith was employed in Dr. Schott's office. She was formerly engaged to Dr. Schott, who maintains that she killed herself with the army revolver found by her side. The revolver was identified as Dr. Schott's property.

From the facts that her clothing was not powder burned and that the range of the bullet indicated that it would have been almost impossible for her to shoot herself, detectives and police scout the suicide theory.

Dr. Schott said when he returned to his office he called Miss Griffith, but she did not answer. He then tried to open the door to an inner office but found it locked. He opened it with a key and found the girl's body, still warm, he said.

Wedding Postponed.

Capt. Jordon said he and Miss Griffith were to have been married last Tuesday, but he suggested that the wedding be postponed until New Year's day and she readily agreed.

Dr. Schott was closely questioned this afternoon by the police.

"The eternal triangle," he explained. "It was just like many other love affairs. We had been good pals for more than a year and I am confident she loved me. Once in my office she saturated a cloth with chloroform and was found in a semi-stupor."

Savant Is Busy Hunting One Little Lost Planet

Cambridge, Mass., Dec. 25.—Prof. William H. Pickering, of the Harvard astronomical observatory, who is stationed at Mandeville, Jamaica, is now engaged in a search for the planet which is supposed by astronomers to exist outside Neptune. He estimates this undiscovered member of the solar system is some fifty-five times as far from the sun as is the earth, according to a statement made today by Prof. Solon L. Bailey, acting director of the Harvard observatory.

BANDIT, WANTED IN MURDER CASE, SEIZED ON FARM

'Shame to Pinch Man Christmas,' Wail.

EDWARD PINKERTON

Edward Pinkerton, who was present when James Murphy, a pal, was shot and killed by mistake when the two with Frank Balaska attempted to hold-up George Simpson, a discharged Australian soldier, was arrested yesterday in a lonely farmhouse thirty miles from Rochester, N. Y. Six Rochester detectives, following a tip given by the Chicago police, made the arrest without trouble, catching Pinkerton while he was half awake.

He made no attempt at resistance and his only complaint to them was:

"It's a shame to pinch a man on Christmas day."

With him at the time of his arrest were a woman who said she was his wife and a man who is not supposed to have been aware that he was wanted by the police.

Offers no Resistance.

Apparently Pinkerton had no intention of making a fight to prevent his arrest, although the Rochester detectives had been warned that they might expect a fight. Although two revolvers were found in his room, only one of them was loaded, and there was no evidence that the bandit had a thought he was in danger.

He said it had been his intention to "go straight" and start life anew as as a farm hand on the farm on which he was found.

Following his arrest Pinkerton showed no reluctance in discussing the crime for which he is wanted in Chicago and for which he has been indicted—being accessory to the murder of Murphy. He said that with Balaska and Murphy he had attempted to hold up Simpson and that their intended victim had felled Murphy with a loaded cane. Then he said Balaska fired two shots, and both bullets struck Murphy, killing him.

Get News of Arrest.

News of the arrest of Pinkerton was received in Chicago by John Norton, head of the homicide squad. The police had learned of Pinkerton's probable whereabouts from a woman to whom he had sold a stolen fur coat.

Balaska has confessed that he, with Murphy and Pinkerton, had robbed Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Marston of 1210 Astor street as they were returning from an opera performance, taking a rope of pearls. The pearls were recovered Dec. 14 from an auto driven by Charles "Buster" Brown and Jack Sheehy, police characters. Balaska also told of a fur coat stolen from Miss Edith Morrison of 812 Eastwood avenue, at Sheridan road and Windsor avenue.

EDGE BILL A LAW; EXPECT BANKERS TO ACT QUICKLY

Corporations for Foreign Trade Looked For.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Organization of a number of large foreign banking corporations for the purpose of facilitating the financing of export trade is looked for within the next few weeks as a result of the signing of the Edge bill by President Wilson.

Announcement of the signing of the bill was made today at the White House.

The bill, which was enacted after many months of effort on the part of financiers interested in the financing of foreign trade, permits the formation of corporations with a capital of not less than $2,000,000 to engage in foreign banking business under the supervision of the federal reserve board.

Think Delay Was Handicap.

The treasury department and the federal reserve board coöperated in the drafting of the bill and government officials expect that it will have a beneficial influence. Some of the financial interests which were most enthusiastic about the measure originally, however, are now not so sure that it will be as effective as supposed because of the delay in its passage and various restrictions imposed upon the corporations.

A number of corporations such as are proposed already have been formed under state laws. Some of them may incorporate under the Edge bill.

Expected to Be Stabilizer.

One of the purposes of the corporations formed under the Edge bill would be to issue debentures against foreign securities. Such debentures, issued under the supervision of the federal reserve board, it is expected, would be readily salable in this country, whereas the foreign securities would not be easily marketable. Through transactions of this nature the new law is designed to aid in the financing of foreign purchases and to stabilize unsettled exchange conditions.

U. S. MAY SELL 103 EX-TEUTON SHIPS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—The shipping board has under consideration the sale of 103 former German passenger ships taken during the war, to be run only under the American flag, it was announced tonight. The tonnage is approximately 250,000 deadweight and the possible price $250 a ton. The decision not to permit liquor sales on government owned ships may make competition with privately owned vessels practically impossible.

DON'T DELAY!

INVESTIGATE TODAY!

J. C. Penney Company

Now operating 197 stores

is planning to open

100 additional stores early in 1920

What will your future be if you remain in your present position?

Even though you are now employed at a very good salary does the outlook satisfy you?

The ambition of most men is to have an actual financial interest in the business in which they are engaged. Do you see any such opportunity ahead for you?

The investment of money is not necessary for your success with us.

When you consider that this organization of 297 stores started in 1902 with one small store you can readily appreciate how our plan of expansion is succeeding with the very best indications that our growth will increase proportionately as time goes on.

The personnel of the J. C. Penney Company is comprised of ambitious young men who came into the organization under the same plan that we are ready to offer to the 300 men we now seek.

More than 300 men, during the comparatively few years since 1902, are now either managers or financial partners in the business and our plan of operation has made that possible.

After relatively few years a great many of these men have each secured partnership interests in several stores.

Briefly the plan is this:

These men came with us at first as retail salesmen, some of them even sold out their own business to do so, after realizing the greater possibilities of co-operative effort, and the progress of these men has, to a great extent, been a matter of their own ability and efforts.

Accordingly as business has justified expansion, new stores have been opened and managed by men selected from the salesforce. If the men made a success of the management they were eventually sold a one-third interest in a new store and proceeded to manage that new store.

From then on these men automatically obtain partnership interests in other stores that are the outgrowth of the one in which they first receive an interest.

Thus in time men usually acquire interests in more than one store and the possibilities for growth are not hampered but very much encouraged.

NOTE:—To men who do not possess the capital required, at the time they are offered one-third interest in a store, money is loaned by the J. C. Penney Company and repaid to the Company from the subsequent profits.

The merchandise we sell in all our stores comprises Dry Goods, Men's, Women's and Children's Clothing, Shoes and Kindred Goods. Only men experienced in the retail selling of these lines may avail themselves of this opportunity.

Imperative Qualifications: Thorough Experience, Good Habits, Highest reference. Ages 25 to 35.

FOR MORE DEFINITE INFORMATION AND PERSONAL INTERVIEW

See Mr. Wm. M. Bushnell

Mon. & Tues., Dec. 29-30, 1919, Hotel La Salle, Chicago, Ill.

(NOTE:—Only men experienced in lines mentioned will be considered.) If unable to arrange to be present for personal interview make written application to our New York Office. Advise us in first letter exact years of retail selling experience in Dry Goods, Shoes, Clothing and Ready-to-Wear, or Window Trimming.

700 TRAIL OF EVENUE AGENT OINTS TO CUBA

Said to Have Gone Whisky Fund.

Joe Peak, ex-jockey, is alleged gone back to his first love, the with nearly $6,000 of saloon- money, given him for the pur- of New Orleans whisky to bright- Chicago's New Year's eve. Neglect- the mission, he is watching the ran at Havana.

this information L. G. Nutt, chief of the central revenue district, transferred the search for from New Orleans to Cuba. Last of Thomas J. Glyder, alias Jo- Peak, escaped the New Orleans after "shooting up" a gambling early in the week, it is said. Retaining an apartment for him- and wife on Sheridan road, a room Great Northern hotel, and spend- money freely, Peak cut a wide in Chicago the last few months salary of $200 a month and the account allotted a revenue With many big "dope" cases record, he was looked upon as a agent of the service.

Well Known Jockey.

one time Peak rode for John W. and was well known to the fraternity. He was also a in the night life from Broadway San Francisco, and became too to ride. In 1916 the jockey his first trick for the govern- landing Dr. Riley C. Hammers of York and Tampa, Fla., in the fed- courts for illicit sale of drugs. he posed in the shady cabarets crook, and was able to buy drugs waiters, bartenders, entertainers, other peddlers.

first of December Peak went on eight day leave of absence. He to return and Chief Agent Nutt started an investigation. According agents of the department of justice, learned Peak secured $4,700 Michael Sullivan, a saloonkeeper, A. J. Karsten, auditor of the New hotel, with which to buy in New Orleans. He received thousand dollars from another keeper, it is alleged.

Reported in Havana.

Nutt said yesterday: "I wired agent at New Orleans to find Peak hold him. I have information now he has gone to Havana. While is no warrant out for him, it is ble he will be charged with ob- money under false pretenses the Chicago men get their money for the whisky."

CHICAGO TO SEE G. O. P. CONTEST START ON JAN. 5

All Candidates Expected to Be Represented.

MRS. JOHN G. SOUTH
HARRIS EWING

Chicago will witness the real start of Republican presidential candidates on Jan. 5. National Chairman Hays will give the signal that initiates the actual campaign of 1920 and one of the most significant gatherings of western Republicans will get into motion. All of the announced and potential aspirants for the top place nomination at the Coliseum next June will be amply represented, personally or by headquarters managers.

Invitations went out yesterday from Republican State Chairman Frank L. Smith and from Mrs. Fletcher Dobyns, chairman of the Illinois woman's executive committee, to Republican men and women from Illinois to participate in a banquet that will be the top lined feature of the three days' roundup. This is set for the evening of Jan. 5 at the Congress hotel. The guests of honor will be National Chairman Will H. Hays, Mrs. John G. South of Kentucky, chairman of the woman's division of the Republican national committee, and Miss Mary Garrett Hay of New York, chairman of the woman's executive committee of the national organization.

Count on Full Suffrage.

The Republican women at this gathering are to meet on full terms of political and party equality with the men. The Republican leaders are confident that the federal suffrage amendment will be ratified in time for all women of the nation to vote in next November's election. The Republican campaign is being organized upon that belief.

Under the direction of Mrs. Dobyns, the Illinois women are to be brought strongly into the national political arena. Women will come from all of the mid-western states, but Mrs. Dobyns is making plans for representation of Illinois Republican women from each of the state's congressional districts. Mrs. Philip Schuyler Doane is announced as chairman of the hospitality committee and Mrs. Allan M. Clement is to be chairman of the registration committee.

Leaders Due Next Week.

Big politics will start with the arrival of the Republican leaders late next week. It is known that every presidential possibility whose name has been mentioned will be ready for action along "Candidates' Row" at the Congress hotel. It will be of record on Jan. 1 what is to happen in South Dakota, where political interest now centers, and the personal intentions of Republican and Democratic candidates for the presidency will have been revealed under the South Dakota primary act.

This may clear up matters so that the foregathering Republicans may know where they are "at." Chairman A. T. Hert of Kentucky has called the first session of the committee on arrangements for the Chicago convention to meet on Jan. 5.

WOMEN PLAN TO FORM BRAND NEW DEMOCRATIC BODY

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—An effort to organize a new national women's Democratic party will be made tomorrow. The tentative plan is to organize it along the lines of the Democratic party, with a national committee and state divisional and subdivisional headquarters.

Leaders of the movement are Mrs. George H. Childs, president of the Women's Democratic club; Margaret Vale, and Ella O'Gorman Stanton. The movement, the announcement stated, was originated by Miss Vale, a niece of President Wilson, who, however, did not receive her inspiration from Washington.

This organization will conflict in no way with existing Democratic political units or organizations, but is to become a practical, intelligent help as an official part of the national Democratic organization.

WOMEN'S VOTES COMBAT UNREST, PALMER'S CLAIM

Washington, D. C., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Attorney General Palmer today urged the ratification of the federal equal suffrage amendment be more speedy, as only twenty-two states have ratified, and thirty-six are necessary. He said that because of "unrest and agitation" the nation needs the "stabilizing and conservative influence of the woman voter."

Found Dead by Bearer of Christmas Greetings

Thomas Downley came from out of town yesterday to extend Christmas and New Year's greetings to his friend, Frank Carlson, 73 years old, at 3759 South California avenue. He knocked on Carlson's door. There was no answer. He pushed on the door, found it unlocked, and walked inside. Carlson was lying across his bed, dead. Death is believed to have been due to heart disease.

PERSHING THANKS CHICAGO FOR ITS HEARTY WELCOME

Col. William Nelson Pelouze, chairman of Mayor Thompson's official welcoming committee which was in charge of the Pershing day program, has received the following letter from Gen. Pershing:

"Will you be good enough to express to the members of your committee as well as to the various people and organizations concerned my very sincere thanks for the hearty welcome and warm reception accorded me and my staff on the occasion of our visit in Chicago, and especially for the delightful dinner given at the Congress hotel? I feel that I am indebted very much indeed to you for my most enjoyable stay in Chicago and desire to thank you personally for the many courtesies shown me.

"With every assurance of my sincere regards,

"Cordially yours,

"[Signed] JOHN J. PERSHING."

SKATING MEET PLANNED FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

MAYOR TO STAGE CITY-WIDE EVENT; MEETING MONDAY

Committee Named and Alderman Will Assist.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

A citywide skating tournament for the boys and girls of the public schools with the finals to be held in the basin at the foot of Randolph street will be staged by Mayor Thompson with the aid of the aldermen of Chicago's thirty-five wards.

In order to make the tourney a success, Mayor Thompson will draft the precinct captains and ward committeemen into service that all may get their shoulders to the wheel and make the event one of the largest ever held in the city.

Mayor Names Committee.

The mayor has named a committee which will have general charge of all the flooded areas and will assist the men in the different wards to stage the preliminary and final contests. This committee is composed of Julian T. Fitzgerald, president of the Western Skating association, chairman; Fred Marquardt, Walter Eckersall, Frederic Lewis, Alfred Johnson, Roy E. Davis, Charles J. Donnelly, William M. Thompson, and Frank M. Kalteux. This committee will meet in the mayor's office at 1 o'clock Monday, when details for the staging of the preliminary meets will be completed.

Since cold weather set in Mayor Thompson has issued orders to the fire department to flood all vacant lots, especially property in the vicinity of schools. Chief O'Connor's men have been working industriously and in the Eighth ward the members of engine company 126, in command of Capt. Lieber, have flooded enough lots to permit the children of eleven schools to enjoy the steel blades.

Hold Precinct Contests.

According to the rough plan drawn up by the mayor, it is the intention to determine the best boy and girl skaters in each precinct and then hold a ward final. The winners of the different events in all the wards then will meet at Grant park in the final. These events will be held on a Saturday afternoon.

According to Albert Mohr, one of the south park commissioners, the basin will be flooded next week so that a hard, firm surface can be made by the time the finals of the city tourney are held. Mr. Mohr said the commissioners will do everything possible for the comfort of the contestants and spectators.

Dig Up Old Skates.

Mayor Thompson's committee also will draft a plan whereby persons who have old skates can turn them over to the different aldermen to be used by the boys and girls who cannot afford a pair. These skates will be resharpened and put in condition.

More definite plans will be announced after Monday's meeting with the mayor. The dates for the trials will be set and one established for the holding of the finals, which will make imperative that all preliminary meets be held according to schedule.

Blues Win Tin Whistle Golf Play at Pinehurst

Pinehurst, N. C., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—The Tin Whistles team match, played on the No. 2 course today on the Nassau point system, resulted in a victory for the Blues by the narrow margin of one point. Donald Parson of Youngstown, a Red, took the low gross honors of the day with an 80. Of the eighteen team matches played in fifteen years, the Blues have won ten, including today's match, the Reds have seven and one was tied.

PESEK TO BEGIN TRAINING TODAY

John Pesek, the Nebraska wrestler, matched to meet Steve Savage in the main bout of the wrestling show at the Coliseum on New Year's eve, will arrive in Chicago today to complete his training. The Nebraskan is anxious to work at the Chicago A. A.

Local mat fans are taking a keen interest in the Cornhusker, who will make his initial appearance in Chicago.

Tickets for the match will be placed on sale Monday at Bloom & Mayer's, 4 North Clark street, and at the Coliseum. Popular prices will prevail.

HARVARD SQUAD GIVEN DRILL AT SAN FRANCISCO

Crimson Eleven to Reach Pasadena Today.

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 25.—Members of the Harvard football squad, en route to Pasadena, Cal., to meet the University of Oregon team on New Year's day, had their first real workout here today since leaving Cambridge. Coach Bob Fisher and the entire staff were right on the job. Opportunity was given the men to punt, run back kicks, and go through the entire game of fundamentals.

Coaches "Shy" Huntington and Bob Fisher will meet shortly after Harvards's arrival at Los Angeles in the morning to go over the matter of officials. It is possible that a hurry call will be sent to Bob ("Tiny") Maxwell of Philadelphia or Walter H. Eckersall of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to officiate.

Crimson May Be Numbered.

For the first time in the history of Harvard football the players will be numbered if the committee wishes this to be done. Coach Fisher has no objections.

Jim Smith, coach of the St. Mary's football team of San Francisco, believes that Harvard will win. He summed up his opinion today as follows:

"The western teams do not know real line play. The forwards charge ahead regardless of where the play is going, and the backs consequently are handicapped when the rush is stopped. Harvard has a powerful defense and knows how to use it. The western forwards have not been coached on how to open up holes for the backs. Oregon is not the best team in the west either. The eleven with the most potential power is California. I figure Harvard should make at least two touchdowns."

"Harvard Out to Win"—Fisher.

The Harvard squad looks upon the coming game in the same light as its games against Princeton and Yale, according to Coach Fisher.

"The same careful preparation has been made and the men will go into the game with the same determination to win," he said.

"Every man realizes that it is his duty to play the game of his life for the good of the university and to uphold the prestige of eastern football."

BIRD NOTES.

A PLASTERER working on a new building on the north side made a discovery the other day. He was wheeling plaster in a wheelbarrow, the iron wheel of which screeched mournfully in the dry snow. Then he began to hear the sound repeated. He looked around but failed to see a competitor or helper. Finally he located the sound as coming from a nearby pine. He investigated and found that a blue jay was amusing himself with his well known imitative powers.

The blue jay has some bad traits but he is a funny fellow, as full of tricks as a monkey. One of his favorite pranks is to sit quietly among other birds and then scare them out of a year's growth by suddenly giving the call of the sharp shinned or other hawk. It's a close race between the mocking bird, cat bird, and blue jay as to which is the better imitator, but the other two mimic for their own benefit, while the blue jay does it for the fun he gets out of it.

Wise men may tell us that birds have no sense of humor, but creatures that live such busy, tragic lives must have something to relieve the strain. Perhaps that is the answer to "Why is a blue jay?" Surely he gets a lot of pleasure out of life with his pranks; and in his sadder moments he can sing amazingly sweet and tender little snatches full of tumbled air castles, lost hopes, and lovers' sighs. But such a mood is of short duration. Let him discover you and his shrill cries of "Thief! Thief!" warn all the wildlings in the vicinity that you are there.

Few birds have as much intelligence as our jay and fewer still can take care of themselves as well in hard times. Put out something good to eat and before the chickadees and downies have had their fill a blue jay is sure to put in his appearance. He eats all he can hold and then starts to carry the rest away to hide in some dry knothole he knows.

Mark Twain recognized this trait and wrote a funny story about some jays trying to fill up a knot hole in the roof of a house with walnuts. Shoo a jay from your feeding shelf and he will get revenge by telling all the neighbors that you are a thief. But don't worry, he'll be back in a while just as friendly as ever, acting as if nothing had happened.

If we could muzzle all the blue jays during the nesting season so they could not rob nests they would be among our most valuable birds; in spite of their faults we cannot help but like the saucy rascals.

Don't Be Buffaloed

Lots of men "wolf" at the high cost of living, then go and boost the high cost still more by paying any old price for their clothes. They think it's sportsman-like to spend freely. They pay exorbitant prices without a murmur. No wonder the profiteer "gets by."

Don't buy price—buy value. Don't be afraid to say the price is too high for the quality. Don't let any clerk make you pay the price against your better judgment. Exorbitant prices are the rule because you have made them so—but there are still clothing merchants who won't gouge you.

We believe it good business to give you your full money's worth. We know the people are not going to stand this constant boosting forever. They are going to end high prices by saying frankly—

—No, I will not buy—and when demand falls off, prices will come down. There are no two ways about it.

Start the ball rolling—don't pay $50 or $60 for the suit or overcoat we sell you for $40.

We don't profiteer. We buy direct from the mills. We tailor at wholesale—we sell for cash and buy for cash. We don't make you help pay for high rents and expensive fixtures. We have pleasant upstairs salesrooms, very pleasant—but not expensive.

All these things save you at least $10 on all wool garments. Come see for yourself—then tell others.

PROMOTER COCHRAN IN U. S. TO MAKE OFFER FOR DEMPSEY MATCH

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—"Georges Carpentier has signed a binding contract with me to fight Jack Dempsey in London some time next year for the heavyweight championship of the world. It is not merely an option, but a binding and definite agreement. Carpentier, his manager, M. Descamps, and myself have agreed upon the amount to be received by Carpentier."

The speaker was Charles B. Cochran, who promoted the recent Carpentier-Beckett bout, by virtue of which Carpentier blossomed forth as the logical man to engage Dempsey in a bout for the title.

Wants Dempsey's Signature.

Cochran arrived in this country today on the Mauretania with the definite purpose of trying to procure Dempsey's signature to a contract and clinching the fight which has caused such world-wide interest.

"I have noticed that I have been quoted as saying that I would offer a purse of $300,000 for the fight," said Cochran. "I have made mention of no such figure; in fact, I have not mentioned figures. I am not prepared to say what the purse will be other than that I believe it will be sufficiently large to be attractive to Dempsey.

"Before leaving England I had entered into negotiations with Dempsey through my representative in New York City, and I was advised by him that the champion was not averse to boxing in England.

Amount of Purse in Doubt.

"My representative advised me that Dempsey was willing to go to England to fight Carpentier, provided suitable inducements were offered. I am here to try to sign Dempsey for such a bout. What he will consider suitable inducements I do not know. I have not entered into any definite financial negotiations with him or any representative of his.

"Of course I have seen several stories printed mentioning various sums, but so far as I know Dempsey has not made any definite demand to my representative. I will see my associate here Saturday and until that time I really am unable to discuss the affair in detail.

"I am not going to the coast. Whether or not Dempsey or Kearns will come to this city I am not in a position to say at this time. I expect to remain in America about four weeks. You can be sure I will exert every effort to try to sign Dempsey."

Harley Turns Down Bids to Take Up Pro Baseball

Chick Harley, captain of last year's Ohio State football team, who was the unanimous choice of critics for a back position on the All-American eleven, will be a member of the Buckeye basketball squad which will start on a vacation tour through Ohio and Pennsylvania today. Harley was in Chicago to spend Christmas with his folks and is trying to make a guard position on the quintet. Harley will play the outfield on the baseball team. Despite tempting offers to play professional baseball after the close of the college season, Harley will remain in school until he gets his degree.

Thorns and Calertons to Battle on Sunday

The biggest crowd that ever witnessed a football game on an indoor gridiron is expected at Dexter Park pavilion Sunday afternoon when the Thorns of Pullman clash with the Calertons for the championship of the Chicago Football league. Last week the Thorns, who hold the title of state champions, eliminated the crack Standards by a 13 to 0 score in one of the best played games of the season. The Calertons have an exceptionally good record this season with victories over such teams as the Stayms, Racine Cardinals, and the Logan Squares.

PLAN TO MATCH LEONARD-O'DOWD

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Before the indoor boxing campaign closes in Jersey, there is a possibility that a match will be clinched bringing together Mike O'Dowd, holder of the middleweight laurels, and the lightweight champion, Benny Leonard. Dave Driscoll, promoter of the Arena club, in Jersey City, is trying to sign the respective titleholders. Although the size of the purse has not been announced, the figures will be over $50,000.

Valger Whips Brown in Mill at Jersey City

Jersey City, N. J., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Benny Valger, the French featherweight champion, soundly trounced George Brown of New York in a bout of eight rounds today. Brown was no match for the sensational Frenchman. This was Valger's second victory this week. He decisively defeated Frankie Britton Tuesday at Syracuse.

Tribune Decisions

Decisions of Tribune fight representatives are:

At Philadelphia—Joe Welling beat Joe Benjamin [6]. Bill Brennan beat Sailor Petroskey [6]. Eddie Fitzsimmons beat Young Joe Borrell [6]. Johnny Murray beat Joey Fox [6]. Harold Farese beat Artie Root [6]. Earl Puryear beat Mickey Russell [6]. Joe Borrell beat K. O. Sampson [6].

At Jersey City—Benny Valger beat George Brown [6].

LEONARD-DUNDEE REFEREE CHOSEN

New York, Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Dave Fitzgerald was selected to referee the Benny Leonard-Johnny Dundee contest, which takes place at New Haven Jan. 16, at a meeting of the boxers and promoters today. Fitzgerald, who is from New Haven, has officiated in the important boxing contests in that city for the last fifteen years, and is considered one of the most capable referees in the country.

Leonard returned to New York from his southern trip in good trim and will not lose any time in starting work for the coming bout.

"I will have little trouble in getting down to the weight," said Leonard today.

WELLING TRIMS JOE BENJAMIN IN LISTLESS MATCH

Lands Staggering Blows; Both Men Hooted.

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 25.—[Special.]—Joe Welling of Chicago won a listless bout from Joe Benjamin in the windup at the Olympia club today. The fight was slow throughout and both were hooted several times. Welling staggered Benjamin several times with hard rights, crosses, and left hooks to the jaw.

Brennan Beats Petroskey.

K. O. Bill Brennan of Chicago, who is clamoring for a return contest with Jack Dempsey, failed to show much in his six round bout with Sailor Petroskey. Brennan won handily, but should have stopped Petroskey.

Eddie Fitzsimmons won from Young Joe Borrell, but the fight was not one-sided, for both men were floored in the second round for short counts.

English Champ Gets Beating.

Johnny Murray, New York featherweight, handed Joey Fox, featherweight champion of England, a beating in six rounds at the National club. The bout was rather slow. Fox kept on top of Murray all of the time, but Johnny got in several left hooks to the jaw.

Harold Farese of Newark won from Artie Root of Cleveland in six rounds. Farese scored two knockdowns against one for Root. Mickey Russell was shaded by Earl Puryear of Tulsa in six rounds, though Russell put up a great fight.

BOY DELINQUENTS NEARLY DOUBLE NUMBER IN 1918

851 Committed by Court, as Compared to 483.

An increase in the number of children appearing before Judge Victor Arnold in the Juvenile court in the year ending Oct. 31 is shown by the report of August W. Miller, clerk of the court. There were 17,487 children before the court in comparison with 14,474 in 1918.

Eight hundred and fifty-one delinquent boys were committed to institutions in comparison with 483 in 1918. Delinquent girls committed numbered 303, eleven more than the preceding year. Dependent boys committed numbered 501, dependent girls 360, and 509 truants were sent to the Chicago Parental school. Pensions granted under the mothers' pension act totaled 1,147, as against 509 during the preceding year.

Circuit Court Busy.

Suits filed in the Circuit court during the fiscal year ending Oct. 31, last, totalled 10,746, an increase of 156 over the preceding year, according to the report of Mr. Miller as clerk of the court. The number of cases disposed of reached 12,561 and there were 7,889 pending suits in comparison with 9,326 the year before.

In the naturalization department, 16,328 declarations of intention were received, 4,812 petitions for final papers were filed, and 3,029 aliens were admitted to citizenship. The receipts of the clerk's office were $142,541, exceeding the expenses by $21,296.

Brundage Suits Swell Totals.

The filing of suits by Attorney General Edward J. Brundage to clear the books of the state of defunct corporations added considerably to the business of the Superior court during the year ending Oct. 31. The total number of suits filed, according to the report of John Kjellander, clerk of the court, was 15,720, including 6,075, against defunct corporations, as against a total of 6,683 the preceding year. Declarations of intentions to become citizens totaled 22,888. There were 6,088 petitions for final papers and 5,441 aliens were admitted to citizenship. The receipts of the office were $134,449, compared with $92,039 the preceding year, leaving $41,204 to be turned over to Cook county after the payment of expenses.

The gross earnings of the Probate court in the year ending Oct. 31 were $321,475, according to the report of John F. Devine, clerk of the court. Collections totaled $156,336, exceeding expenses by $46,975. There were 9,141 estates docketed and 5,953 estates settled. The report shows that the work of the court increased 25 per cent over the preceding year.

County Court Earns Money.

The report of Robert M. Sweitzer of the business in the County court during the year ending Oct. 31 shows earnings of $75,079 and actual collections of $39,955. Salaries totaled $33,327. The largest number of cases handled in the court were those of insane persons, numbering 3,265. Next in line were 863 special assessment cases, 769 inheritance tax cases, 653 adoption cases, 507 common law cases, and 299 support cases. In the last named cases $70,022 was collected and disbursed.

HUNT GIRL WHO CHARGES SAILOR WITH BIGAMY

William A. Schultz, 29 years old, of 2019 Indiana avenue, was arrested on Oct. 25 by Detectives William Brophy and William O'Donnell on a charge of bigamy. The complainant was Miss Agnes Bennett of Oak Park.

Schultz during the war was in the navy. When the war exposition was held in Grant park he played the part of a war hero. There he met Miss Bennett, the police say, and wooed and won her in three days.

According to Miss Bennett's original story, she discovered a few days later that Schultz had a wife and two children in St. Louis. Now the detectives are looking for Miss Bennett to substantiate her story before the grand jury. They say she cannot be found.

Schultz is to be taken to St. Louis today to face a charge of wife abandonment

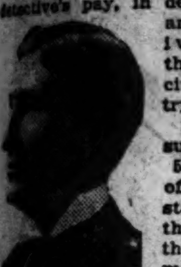
DETECTING OWN WORK BAFFLES CITY'S SLEUTHS

They're So Busy They Can't Find Eight of Own Force.

BY OSCAR E. HEWITT.



GUY GUERNSEY

Chicago has more persons drawing detective's pay, in detective's dress and with detective's privileges than any other city in the country.

The sleuths are supposed to total 545. The reports of the efficiency staff speak of that number. But the police department has been counting them recently and has found only 537.

The detectives have a convenient downtown headquarters on La Salle street, the financial center of the middle west, where it is the custom to congregate on pay day and other days when pictures are to be taken for publication.

Only Ninety at Bureau.

Of course, not all of the 537 report there, nor half of them, nor a quarter of them. Only ninety of the most select of those peculiarly fitted for detecting are on the bureau pay roll. The others are scattered about the city in various police stations and at nominal places of employment.

Not all of the ninety work for the bureau. Five do not even pretend to work there; they are only paid there; they labor in other vineyards. But the eighty-five diligent "dicks" with the aid of twenty-three plain sergeants and sixty-five disguised patrolmen have accomplished much this year. They have so confessed to the council police committee.

They have cleared up so much crime, they can't tell the exact number of cases. They have so reported to the committee—and some of the detectives can count up into the thousands.

Steffen Doubts Ability.

"That's all piffle," commented Ald. Steffen yesterday. "The fifteen members of the police committee could put more crooks in the penitentiary than the bureau has done this year."

Ald. Guernsey, who is fathering the police reorganization ordinance, has done some private reckoning of his own. He said:

"The detective sergeants at the stations have cleaned up considerably more crimes per man than have the men in the detective bureau. I can prove that with some of the bureau's own figures."

Ald. Byrne, another member of the committee, takes a different view. He commented:

"If there is an effort to get Capt. Mooney because the bureau doesn't get as many results as it should, let the effort succeed, if he is to blame; but why abolish the bureau?"

"It isn't worth its salt," answered Steffen.

Hearing Due Today.

The police committee is scheduled to listen to opinions of the bureau this morning from Police Chief Garrity, First Deputy Alcock, and Chief Mooney.

Perhaps some friend will ask that the report of the bureau be read. It recites that the bureau has recovered $1,333,534 worth of stolen property. The bureau wasn't asked and does not tell what percentage that is of the total stolen, but as compared with 1918 and 1917 the recoveries this year were nearly three times the normal figure. The property recovered in 1916 was appraised at $369,310.

The bureau reports that it has made 700 more arrests than in either 1917 or 1916, and 1,500 more than in 1918.

Results of Arrests.

The report compares the result of these arrests with the ones obtained in the three previous years as follows:

Year.	Fined.	Held to grd. jury.	Put in jail.	Put in bride-well.	Put in prison.
1919	848	591	82	579	137
1918	700	348	76	485	73
1917	742	466	32	378	114
1916	531	473	27	358	112

It should be added that this year has not been completed and that there remained fifteen days in which to do business when the above figures were compiled.

This morning's session of the Steffen group should be the leading attraction of all of the council committee meetings today.

Aerial Battle Tactics to Be Feature of Aero Show

Battle tactics that cleared the sky of the Germans will be given over Grant park as an added feature to the Aeronautical show which opens Jan. 8 at the Coliseum. The latest 1920 models of planes will be steered in battle formation by pilots who won fame in the war. Maj. Reed Landis, Chicago's leading ace, will fly an Avro, a British plane. He will be in charge of his company's exhibit at the Aeronautical show.

Wife, Accidentally Shot by Husband, Near Death

Mrs. Adela Tessarola, 2435 West Superior street, who was shot Wednesday while in the home of her parents through the accidental discharge of a pistol in the hands of her husband, John Tessarola, a war veteran, was reported to be rapidly sinking late last night by physicians at the Robert Burns hospital.

ROMANCE

Girl Goes to Philippines to Wed Oak Park Soldier.

Miss Laura D. Dickinson
Oscar N. Taylor

Here is a romance that covers the world. The scene of the wedding is the Philippine islands. An Oak Park youth, Lieut. Oscar Newland Taylor, son of Capt. and Mrs. Oscar E. Taylor of 845 Harvey avenue, is the bridegroom, and Miss Laura Dotterer Dickinson of Charleston, S. C., and Birmingham, Ala., is the bride.

Miss Dickinson sailed for Manila on the Siberia Maru several weeks ago, and the wedding was scheduled to take place soon after her arrival, the Rev. A. B. Parson, bishop of Manila, officiating.

Lieut. Taylor was a cadet at the Citadel, the military college of South Carolina, before he obtained a commission in the army. He is at present assigned to the 1st Philippine engineers and stationed at Camp Eldridge, Laguna, Luzon.

WHY OUR MAYOR FAILED TO DINE ON YOUNG PIG

Ting-a-ling-a-ling!

"This is the South Chicago reporter. Got a little piece about a pig, Mayor Thompson and Moynihan. . . . Thompson's initials are W for William and H for Hale. Moynihan's are P for pork and H for hungry. Didn't get the pig's.

"Moynihan lives at 2803 Ninety-second place and use to be an alderman—Yeh. . . . Now he's on the mayor's traction commission. . . . Yeh. . . . Some friends out in the tall grass sent him a swell young pig for Christmas dinner. . . . Yeh, he invited the mayor out tonight. . . .

"Well, last night Moynihan was hauling the pig home in his automobile from the express office. . . . Pig got out of crate and auto at Ninety-second street and Commercial avenue. . . . Yeh, that's the center of our business district. . . . Chased through butcher stores, barber shops, dry goods stores, and upset a dozen women shoppers.

"No, not yet. They're still looking for him. . . . Yeh, Moynihan called the mayor by phone. . . . No, did not come out. . . . Turkey, I guess. . . . Ha! ha! . . . Y' oughta get a good story outa that. . . . Ha! ha! G'by!"

Student's Christmas Gift Stolen from Frat House

George Noonan, a student at Northwestern university and a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, received a Christmas present from his father at Bayonne, N. J., but a thief who entered the fraternity house some time early Christmas morning knows better than Noonan what the present is.

TARS TOGETHER FOR FIFTY YEARS MAKE LAST PORT

Shipmates to the Last, Gas Accident Kills Two Aged Men.

When the seven masted clipper Olga Bjornson spread its canvas some fifty years ago and stood out through the Skagerrack with the ports of the world on its cargo lists, Olaf Johnson and his friend, Early Jacobson, were members of the crew.

Their mission was to see and know life, to grasp hands and be hail fellow well met with adventure.

For nearly fifty years they sailed the seven seas together. Singapore knew them, and Port Said, and Calcutta, and the Ivory Coast, and the fabled isles of the Pacific, and the arctic, and all the lands and waters to which men go down to the sea in ships.

Fifty years—and finally the sea lost its charm for the two old shipmates. They retired and came to Chicago to live.

The Last Adventure.

Yesterday, the partnership still holding fast, they embarked together on their last great adventure, this time on an uncharted sea—death. They died on adjoining cots in Alexian Brothers' hospital after having been overcome by gas.

The aged men were found on Dec. 23 in their cottage at the rear of 3213 Clifton avenue by Ernest Lindbloom, a son-in-law of Johnson, who lived next door. The gas was escaping from a plate in the kitchen stove.

Both men were widowers. Six months ago Jacobson, who did odd jobs in a shop near his son's house, had left the latter's home to establish bachelor quarters with his old seafaring friend.

Lindbloom told the Town Hall police he had called at his father-in-law's door to ask him to watch for a number of Christmas packages. An open window indicated that death had been accidental. Johnson was 83 years old and Jacobson was 77.

Dies Amid Yule Gifts.

Another death by gas during the day was that of Mrs. Katherine Lash, 40 years old, a clerk in a loop store, who, according to her neighbors, had divorced her husband and lived alone in a four room apartment at 2827 Abbott court. A number of Christmas gifts surrounded the body.

Upstairs in the rear of 1732 West Seventeenth street a man known only as Jan was found dead last night by Frank Kowalczyk, his landlord. He had been dead several days. A gas stove was burning, and it is believed death was due to exhaustion of oxygen in the air.

BOY'S YULE RIFLE NIPS NEIGHBOR'S FEAST AND EAR

Peter Reinbolt of 1629 Burley avenue was conveying a piece of Christmas turkey to his mouth at dinner yesterday when the crack of a rifle sounded, followed by a tinkle of glass and the ping of a bullet against the wall. Reinbolt then felt a sting in his left ear and blood began dripping from it.

The police found that Henry Wiese, 18 years old, of 714 West North avenue, had been shooting at a tin can in a vacant lot next door to the Reinbolt residence with a rifle he had received as a Christmas gift. He had missed the can, and the bullet had gone through Reinbolt's window. A piece of the glass had cut Reinbolt's ear.

The police lectured Henry.

GET AUTOS FOR CHRISTMAS AND CRASH RESULTS

Leo Boose of 5019 West End avenue and Edward Aplin of 2807 Union avenue both had new Christmas autos. Early Wednesday evening they tried them out and met at the corner of West End avenue and Le Claire street.

Boose was taken to his home by neighbors, complaining of an injured shoulder and back. Frank Tetler, 5019 West End avenue, who was riding in the machine with Boose, and Aplin were uninjured.

Austin police attended with the patrol wagon.

SEIZE DISTURBER AT YULE MASS IN CATHEDRAL

Wilson Threats Halt Sermon; Two Held.

Just as the Rev. James O'Neill, S. J., had concluded the reading of the gospel at the last Christmas mass in Holy Name cathedral yesterday morning, and was about to begin his sermon, he was interrupted by a shout.

"Where's President Wilson? I want to get him for making the country dry."

The cries came from a middle aged man, who was standing in a pew near the rear of the cathedral, which was crowded. Archbishop Mundelein, who had pontificated at the mass, was among those who heard the man's remarks.

"Where's the president?" the man demanded. "I'm going to kill him for making the country dry."

Lead Man from Cathedral.

There was a moment's hesitation and then ushers started toward the man, L. G. Matalene, the chief usher, was the first to reach him and had little difficulty in quieting him.

Meantime the police had been sent for and Detective Sergeants Byrnes and Mulvihill of the Chicago avenue station, only a few blocks away, led the man from the church.

As they did so another man followed. "Who are you?" one of them asked.

"I'm his soulmate," was the reply as the second man pointed to the one who had interrupted the services.

He also was seized by the detectives.

Find Mystery Bottle.

At the station the man who had shouted the threats against the president gave his name as Louis Braitenbach, 42 years old, of 1108 West Fourteenth street. When he was searched a bottle of liquid was found upon him. This is being held for analysis.

The second man gave his name as Henry Gier, 40 years old. A knife and a dead pigeon were found in his pockets.

"What's the pigeon for?" he was asked.

"Christmas dinner for Louis and me," was the reply.

Both men are held at the station for examination today by Dr. Hickson of the psychopathic laboratory.

"GIVE grain preference over all other commodities."

This order was flashed last night to every railroad under the jurisdiction of R. H. Aishton, regional director of the northwest, and Hale Holden, regional director of the central west—the two great grain producing sections.

The order followed complaints by grain men that they were unable to move crops, and will remain in force until the present crops have been distributed.

Under the order grain takes precedence even of coal—the coal situation having "eased up a bit," according to the railroad officials.

Not only are grain cars to have preference on the right of way, but they are to receive attention first in repair shops, and extra forces are to be put at work fitting every available grain car for service. Cars suitable for grain carrying may be loaded with other merchandise only when such merchandise is to be shipped direct into a grain producing section. Otherwise, grain cars will be hauled back, when unloaded, over the shortest possible route, to the grain centers.

WINNETKA CHIEF TELLS HOW TO FOIL BURGLARS

Chief of Police W. M. Peterson of Winnetka in an open letter yesterday asked coöperation in the prevention of burglaries in the suburb. He said all attempts to burglarize houses in the last few weeks had been made while the families were away and asked that every resident report to the police the length of time he intends to be absent and the date of return.

Other preventive measures which he advocated are:

Notify the neighbors when you go away and tell them when you will return.

Leave the lights on and the curtains raised when the house is unoccupied at night.

Be careful about locking windows and doors.

Hide valuables instead of leaving them in plain view or in bureau drawers of trunks.

The letter was sent to every resident of the suburb.

HUSBAND SHOOTS YULE VISITOR OF ESTRANGED WIFE

Jealousy Is Blamed for Near-Tragedy.

Edward Reinemann is in St. Bernard's hospital with three bullet wounds in his body and the police of the Englewood station are searching for Stephen Ziegment as a result of Chicago's only Christmas shooting.

Reinemann was shot while talking with Ziegment's wife, Alice, in the home of her parents at 33 West Sixtieth street.

"I went to the home of Miss Catherine Hunt at 15 West Sixtieth street to give her a Christmas present," said Reinemann, who lives at 1241 West Jackson boulevard, at the hospital. "It was she who had introduced me to Mrs. Ziegment. When I found Miss Hunt was not at home I walked down the street to Mrs. Ziegment's home, thinking she might be there, or that Mrs. Ziegment would know where I could find her.

"We had talked only a few minutes when a man burst into the house and drew a revolver. He swore and fired four times."

Lays Shooting to Jealousy.

Mrs. Ziegment declared her husband had trailed her from the neighborhood of her home.

"I left my husband two months ago," she said. "He had sought to get me back for a month and was very jealous, but without cause.

"My husband and Theodore Walters, a friend, came to my home shortly after the noon hour and knocked at the door. I admitted them and we talked a few minutes. He wished me to go to New York with him, but I refused. I told him I did not wish to live with him again. Then, he and Walters went outside and stood in the hallway.

"A moment later Steve again entered the room and fired at Reinemann."

Set Trap for Husband.

Walters declared Ziegment had asked him to accompany him to his mother-in-law's home, as he wished to pay a Christmas visit to his wife.

"I don't think he planned the shooting," he said.

Police were stationed around Ziegment's house and the residence of his wife to arrest the husband if he endeavored to return. The Ziegments have three children, two boys and a girl. One son, 3, remained with the husband when they separated.

SEVEN LIEUTENANTS OF FIRE DEPARTMENT ARE MADE CAPTAINS

UNDER a general order issued by Fire Marshal Thomas O'Connor, creating four new fire squads and two new engine companies, seven lieutenants were made captains yesterday, to take care of the new groups, and thirteen lieutenants were drawn from lesser ranks.

The new fire squads, and the commanders, are:

John Rogers, formerly of fire prevention bureau; assigned to engine 16.

Archibald Kersting, formerly of fire prevention bureau; assigned to engine 35.

HOPE OF CHEAPER COAL IS SEEN IN NEW CONTRACTS

Present Arrangements to Expire April 1 and Cut Is Possible.

Here's a ray of hope for those whose purses are being ground flat by King Coal's tax gatherers.

The contracts, by virtue of which the 14 per cent increase in miners' wages is being passed on to the consumer will expire April 1. After they expire all coal will be sold in the open market at the government price—if the price remains in force—or else new contracts will be made at that fixed price.

This was announced yesterday by George W. Reed, vice president of the Peabody Coal company.

Will Follow U. S. Price.

"When the present contracts expire on April 1, the new coal will go at the government price," said Mr. Reed. "Of course, the government price may not be in effect then, or it may be readjusted to take care of the increase in mining cost. But, if it is in effect, the government's ruling will be lived up to. This, however, must be borne in mind—no man can be compelled to sell coal at a loss."

Mr. Reed would not comment on what might be the effect of the removal of government restriction from coal prices. He said, however, that mine profits were greatly overrated. "I wish we could make 10 cents a ton on our coal. That would more than satisfy every operator who has a mine of any size. We're not getting any such profit now."

Others in the coal trade agreed with Mr. Reed. They went further, however, and predicted there either would be a raise in price or an adjustment which would induce buyers to take part of their coal during the slack period, so as to permit continuous operation of mines.

Do Not Fear Prosecution.

No operator appeared worried over the threat of United States District Attorney Clyne to prosecute operators who increased prices. They appeared gratified that he was "going after" the wagon mines which were receiving from $5 to $6 a ton for coal at the mine mouth.

The wagon mine, it has been pointed out, skims the cream of the mine run trade in rural communities. It renders coal business uncertain in communities where it flourishes. A dealer may order 200 cars of coal—on expectation of seasonable business—wagon mines may spring up and leave him with a large part of the coal undisposed of.

Under the prewar competitive system the big operators eliminated the wagon mines themselves by slashing prices in districts where they appeared. Now the big fellows hope Mr. Clyne will save them the trouble by prosecutions.

VICTIM FIGHTS ROBBER PAIR IN SPEEDING AUTO

In years to come Hubert Grautzaus of 1640 Melrose street will be able to relate a thrilling experience which occurred to him on Christmas night of 1919. It will run something like this:

"I was hurrying home when an aumobile stopped at Greenview and Wellington avenues. Two men leaped out; one was carrying a blanket and the other a revolver. A third man remained in the automobile. The blanket was thrown over my head and the revolver pressed against my side. I was forced into the machine and whizzed away.

"The robbers kept threatening me, but I fought with them until I was afraid they would kill me. Then they took $14, my watch, a diamond pin, and my overcoat. They wanted to take my trousers off, but I could not stand for that, so they kicked me out at Paulina and Walnut streets."

Giant Officer Felled by Street Car, Skull Broken

Emil Krumbein, one of the Cottage Grove avenue station's giant officers, last night was escorting his sister home from a Christmas party at his home, 809 West Fifty-seventh street, just before reporting for work at midnight. At Fifty-seventh and Halsted streets they endeavored to run in front of an approaching car to catch it at the corner. The car had a defective air brake and the motorman could not stop.

Series of Shots Stirs South Side Neighborhood

Calumet avenue and Forty-third street was tossed up into the air last night by a succession of shots and excitement prevailed in the neighborhood for several hours. One citizen called up THE TRIBUNE and reported that colored men in a speeding auto had fired at white men. The police heard it was members of the force firing on holdups. They finally concluded, after investigation, that two Negro police reserves were the men behind the guns, but they were unable to locate the reserves.

Driver of Auto Takes Victim to Hospital

Frank Shoemaker, 230 South Green street, a waiter at the Randolph hotel, was severely injured early last night by an automobile at Fourteenth place and Halsted street. He was taken to the county hospital by John Blazek, 901 West Eighteenth street, the driver of the car.

Well, Christmas is over. How do you feel? Have a good time? Want to go to the movies tonight? If you do you might like "The Tong Man."

Not that I think it is by any means one of Sessue Hayakawa's best. Somehow a picture that really seems to suit him is becoming a "once in a while." If you ask me why—I think it's because his wife is so seldom with him. Miss Eddy makes a delightful support, but nobody acts with or seems to inspire the Jap like his appealing, almond-eyed little spouse.

He's a Chinese desperado in his present release, the one good thing in his life being his love for the daughter of a Chinese merchant. The merchant is in wrong with a secret Chinese Black Hand society and Luk Chan is chosen to kill him. That's what the story's all about.

There's much worshiping of images, scurrying through human rabbit warrens. Knives are thrown by skillful hands and a hatchet lands most realistically athwart the face of a belligerent, causing mere onlookers to have a momentary impression that they have witnessed a hideous accident and have felt on their cringing flesh the splash of warm blood.

The picture is well acted, directed, and staged on the whole. And films of the kind will tide Mr. Hayakawa over until some day he gets a smashing Japanese story again in which Tsuri Aoki co-stars.

How Time Drags!

One afternoon, having finished my shopping, I decided to call on a friend, and arrived at her home about 2:30. After chatting for a time I felt it must be growing late, and, upon inquiring the time, she informed me it was 2:30. Forgetting the hour at which I arrived, I exclaimed: "My! Is that all?" Then, trying to cover my mistake after she calmly said, "Thank you," I hastened to add: "But, you know, I came early." Endeavoring to get even, she made matters worse for me by replying: "Yes, you did come quite early."

B. C. S.

Forgotten.

The other evening as my wife and I were leaving the theater, a man hailed me with: "Hello there, Russ; haven't seen you in a long while." Well, I could not think who in thunder he was, and as I had to present my wife, I asked his name. You may imagine my embarrassment when I learned he was an old classmate.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Meat Stock from Turkey Bones.

There can be little knowledge of inexpensive meat cookery without recognition of what a bone is worth. A bone does not give up its real strength or virtue to violent heat nor in a short time. Fat and gelatin constitute this virtue, and the gelatin in a bone only comes out with slow and long boiling or simmering.

As cooked we use enough water to thin this gelatin a good deal, but with long cooking the amount of gelatin is a pound of bone will stiffen a surprisingly large amount of water.

When people used to make their own gelatin they used a quart of water to one calf's foot. Isinglass and sea moss were the commercially handled gelatins our grandmothers had. For gelatin desserts they made and clarified calf's foot jelly.

The clean rack of a turkey, well covered with water and cooked for twelve hours, perhaps in a fireles cooker over a hot stove, after the first half hour will yield a meat stock that is excellent for sauces of several sorts and even for a bit of jellied turkey.

A hot turkey sandwich or some slivers of turkey heated up in a sauce made of this stock and served on toast or even between two slices may be made highly attractive. Blend butter and flour as in making white sauce, then add cold stock and stir constantly until it thickens. Let the cold meat heat thoroughly in this. Turkey ramekins and even hash will be the more "tasty" for being made of such a sauce or gravy. It is easy to make brown gravies with this stock. Cook some celery in it, also.

WINTER BLOSSOMS

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

There is time left to plant flowers indoors and have winter blossoms. With little effort every flower lover can have a window full of blossoms, even while the temperature is below zero outside.

In cold weather there is often great disappointment when an attempt is made to grow some of the tender indoor flowering plants in windows where there is too much draft. This can be easily avoided by using bulbs. The bulbs are not so sensitive. There are several in the group to select from, but the daffodil, jonquil, hyacinth, and tulip are best.

Flower pots about five or six inches in diameter should be used. Pebbles, charcoal, or broken crockery should be placed in the bottom of the pot to provide drainage.

Then put in two or three inches of rich, sandy loam soil. The soil may be prepared best by mixing about one-third each of garden soil, sand, and loam. However, bulbs are very hardy and will grow well in garden soil.

Place the bulbs in the soil and cover them with earth enough so the tips will be below the rim of the pot. The soil should be about one-half inch below the edge of the pot. Moisten the soil thoroughly.

Then remove the pots and place them in a closet, or any cool, dark room, for about five weeks. Here the roots are allowed to form. Never keep them where there is light while the roots are forming.

At the end of five weeks they should be watered and removed to a room where the temperature is about 60 degrees Fahrenheit until the flowers open. Keep them out of direct sunlight for several days. When the buds begin to open the plants may be placed near a window where there is sunlight, as this will tend to increase the richness of color. However, the flowers will last longer if the plants, even after the blossoms open, are kept in the shade where the temperature is about 50 degrees.

DORIS BLAKE'S ANSWERS

Why the Resolution?

"Dear Miss Blake: On last New Year's eve I made a resolution never to associate with her again. During the last week I once more accidentally met her at my friend's house. I know she still loves me, and surely this love is reciprocated, but we are afraid to admit it again. I want to go with her again, but I can't—I am afraid—afraid of gossip, that deadly poison, which we both now realize had parted us. I am afraid of myself—I am afraid I may forget myself and in a love mad fit run off with her, which may prove fatal to both of us, disregarding my promise to my mother never to see her again, sacrificing my educational obligations, and sacrificing her life as well as mine, for I am in no financial condition at this time to consider love serious. Give me some advice, Dear Miss Blake, for I dare not go to my mother with all this on my heart.

"A. A. A."

You might have enlightened me on the matter further. What is the matter with the girl? Do I read between the lines a difference in social position, or what? You must tell me more, else I cannot help you.

It was during her summer vacation on the farm that Elizabeth longed to be allowed to drive the big team of horses. She was just 5, but one afternoon her cousin lifted her in and gave her the reins. She pulled and slapped them on the horses' back, and, in fear of the team starting too swiftly, cousin Frances advised her to be careful and drive with less motion. Again she shook the reins violently.

"Slower, Elizabeth, and you'll be a better driver."

She held tight to her reins, then turned and said reproachfully, "Cousin Frances, what can you s'pect? I'm only a child!"

On being questioned concerning his first day at school George replied that he liked it and went into detail to tell about the desk that he had all to himself. The next day he came home with a rather sad expression on his face. Again he was asked how he liked school. This time he replied: "I don't think so much sittin' is good for me."

When Billy said he wanted an electric train for Christmas I asked him what was wrong with the train he had. "O," said the little make believe, "I'm getting awful tired putting coal in that one all the time."

What soap to keep skins youthful?

THE pores of the skin are the "workshop" of skin-beauty. And unless they are kept free and active the skin cannot be kept fresh and young.

Fairy Soap creams up into a velvety, soothing lather. This lather does not remain in the pores to clog them and diminish their activity. Fairy Soap leaves the skin cleansed and freshened. It rinses away—easily—completely.

Make friends with pure Fairy Soap for your complexion and your bath. Its day-by-day use will help to keep your skin soft, fresh and young.

When They Married in the Old Days They Married to Remain So

MR. AND MRS. POPE C. HUNTINGTON.

Sixty years of happy married life will be celebrated tomorrow evening by Mr. and Mrs. Pope C. Huntington, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Huntington, 3908 Lake Park avenue.

The two were married in Troy, N. Y., Dec. 27, 1859, and came to Chicago in 1860. Mr. Huntington was born in Rome, N. Y., July 30, 1835, and his wife, who was Jennie Benedict, was born in Hoosick Falls, N. Y., June 6, 1837.

Mr. Huntington says he has been a reader of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE ever since he came to Chicago. It was then the Press and Tribune and occupied small quarters in Clark street.

The "bridegroom" is in the employ of Henry Hafer & Son, coal dealers.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry D. Fulton, 444 Englewood avenue, were pleasantly surprised Christmas eve by the gathering together of their children in commemoration of their fifty years of married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Fulton were married in Washburn, Ill., Christmas eve, 1869, and came in 1884 to Englewood, where he was actively engaged in the coal business until five years ago, when he was succeeded by his sons.

Mr. Fulton was twice a member of the Illinois legislature from the Eleventh district, and is now department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for this state.

Mr. Fulton was given a gold watch, and Mrs. Fulton a purse of gold.

Their children are Mrs. [Dr.] W. B. Winget, Albert B. Fulton, and Frank M. Fulton, whose wife is commander in chief of the Illinois Colony club of Chicago. There are six grandchildren. The circle was complete—not one break in fifty years.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The last of the series of opera musicales being given by Mr. and Mrs. Marx E. Oberndorfer at the Woman's Athletic club, which was to have taken place at 11 o'clock this morning, has been postponed until next Friday, owing to the sudden death Christmas eve of Mrs. Oberndorfer's father, Samuel W. Faulkner, Chicago pioneer.

A special Christmas program will be given at the meeting of the Chicago Woman's club at 2:30 o'clock today of the Dorothy Meadows drama circle. Nurses, doctors, and wounded soldiers of the Drexel hospital will be guests. Mrs. John H. Volk is hostess of the day.

The Lamda Sigma Phi fraternity will hold its annual convention tomorrow and Sunday.

The South Side Catholic Woman's club will give its annual children's party today. There will be a Punch and Judy Show, and dancing in charge of kindergarten teachers.

The St. Michael's Boy choir will present on Sunday "The Grumbler," an operetta in four acts, with Walter H. Bauler in the leading rôle. Proceeds go for the benefit of the school.

Christmas Number of Army Bulletin Is Full of Cheer

Brimful of good cheer and everything else that goes to make a merry Yuletide, the Christmas number of the Bulletin, the mimeographed publication of the United States army recruiting bureau at New York, appeared in Chicago yesterday.

It contains messages of greetings from Secretary of War Baker and Adjt. Gen. P. C. Harris, a Christmas editorial by Dr. Frank Crane, letters from George M. Cohan and Elsie Janis, and numerous offerings from well known poets.

Besides all this, doughboys and officers have joined in sending various messages to their prospective "buddies," extracts clipped from national newspapers present the latest ideas on Americanism, and articles from the staff give a new outlook on army life. The Bulletin is printed in three colors in honor of the holiday.

Maj. Howard, in charge of the Chicago recruiting bureau, has distributed copies in this area.

Women's Votes Shake Customs of Old Holland

THE HAGUE, Dec. 8.—[Correspondence.]—Dutch women, for centuries busy with children, kitchen, and church, now vote and some are in nearly every town council.

Mrs. Wijnandts Francken, one of the leading women, says the fathers have too much control of the education, marriage, and other factors in the lives of their children. She says:

"The Dutch woman must promise obedience to her husband in the vow of marriage, but now they want to be the equals of their husbands, not their housekeepers.

"'One of the greatest obstacles these women leaders have to overcome is the conservatism of the old fashioned women, who form a great part of the population.'"

Night Mass Total Plus Pastor's $4 Is $2,000

The midnight mass held on Christmas eve in St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston, yielded $1,996 to the contribution baskets. The Rev. George Craig Stewart, pastor, went into his own pocket for the $4 necessary to make it an even $2,000.

Among the donations were two $500 bills. Dr. Stewart said usually there are several $1,000 bills in the Christmas eve collection, but that large gifts were not expected this year because of the heavy donations, amounting to $90,000, made since Easter. Most of this amount was given toward the erection of a new parish house, although two $10,000 presents were made to lift a mortgage.

Mourn Thrice Yearly, Is Urged on Women

New York, Dec. 25.—The suggestion has been made by Mme. Jules Siegfried, president of the National Council of French Women, that three days be set apart each year on which American and French women may recall their common labor and sufferings during the world war, according to a cable to the Y. W. C. A. Jan. 1, "when every one perceives an ideal of work." July 4, a holiday in France as in America, and Nov. 11, the anniversary of Armistice day, were suggested.

BY CORINNE LOWE.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Spare the stripe and spoil the gown, seems to be the motto of many a designer. All sorts of stripes are popular this year in all sorts of costumes, the suit of striped wool being particularly smart.

Novelty fabrics revel in this sort of thing and we have many new effects in striped jerseys. Some French frocks show, too, velvet or satin foundation upon which embroidered lines of gold or silver thread give the coveted stripe. And in the manifold combination frocks and suits the stripe material is pitted constantly against the plain.

The frock which Madeleine & Madeleine designed for us above is made of navy charmeuse ribbed in navy velvet. With its kimono sleeve, its long bloused bodice, and its trimming of metallic ribbon, this frock looks extremely artless. Yet if you examine it carefully you find that the yoke and the draping of the skirt provide a study in taking the monotony away from the striped frock.

OBITUARY

MRS. ALICE FORD HUNTINGTON, 76, grandmother of Mrs. Vincent Astor, died Tuesday night at her home, 42 East Eightieth street, New York City. She was born in Louisville, Ky., the daughter of James Coleman Ford, a cotton planter. Her husband, Robert P. Huntington, to whom she was married in 1866, died twenty years ago. She is survived by two sons, Ford Huntington and Robert P. Huntington. Mrs. Huntington was interested in many charitable organizations and was a regular attendant at the opera. Her funeral will be held this morning at 10 o'clock in Grace church chantry, and interment will be at Rhinebeck.

SAMUEL H. SEDGWICK, for fifteen years a justice of the Nebraska Supreme court, died suddenly at his home in Lincoln last night. He was 71 years old.

School Art Reception Tuesday.

A reception will be held at the Art Institute Tuesday afternoon under the auspices of the Chicago Public School Art society in connection with its exhibition of pictures, industrial arts, and printing cabinets now being held.

OBITUARY.

MRS. EUGENE PRAGER, 1459 Lawrence avenue, died last night. She was the wife of the former oil inspector for the city of Chicago, and had been a resident of Chicago for more than fifty years. The funeral will be held from Our Lady of Lourdes church at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Interment will be in Calvary cemetery.

GIVE US PEACE, CHEAPER COTTON, SAXONY'S PLEA

Spinning Mills Busy on Half Production.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

PLAUEN, Saxony, Dec. 25.—All Saxony manifests its willingness to work, the only difference between this and that district being the extent to which it is affected by the shortage of raw material, on the one hand, and the lack of coal, on the other.

The textile section, including Plauen and Chemnitz, suffers generally from both causes, but even here there are wide variations as to the extent of suffering. Chemnitz has been able to buy sufficient raw cotton for the time being and, therefore, is chiefly hit by the lack of fuel. But Plauen has been unable to obtain sufficient cotton thread and yarn to keep half of its famous embroidery and lace mills busy, so that even a normal coal supply would not meet the problem.

Families Lack Yarn.

And still a third situation exists in some of the small towns of the Erzgebirge, where there are hundreds of small, family owned and operated factories which receive their power from the central electric plant located in the coal field and are unable to buy sufficient yarn from Chemnitz to keep the knitting machines running.

In the village of Thalheim there are more than 300 such plants, mostly in the homes, which exist by buying a week's supply of material and then selling the product, chiefly consisting of socks, stockings, and gloves, in whose manufacture the entire family participates.

At Thalheim one also sees a machine which knits thirty-six stockings simultaneously and which the owners claim is so far unknown outside of Germany.

Fifty Per Cent Operation.

At three of the big lace and embroidery mills which I visited in Plauen, a town with a population of 130,000, the estimates varied concerning the labor situation. But the highest estimate was that 50 per cent of the city's 14,000 machines are now in operation, and Dr. Bruno Zeh, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said he believed this figure to be approximately correct.

There was complete agreement concerning the outlook in the future, however. If raw cotton continues to cost Germany forty times what it did before the war industrial recovery will be impossible without large foreign credits. One manufacturer said he had been buying English thread, imported through Cologne duty free, but was doubtful whether the domestic market could continue to pay the resulting high prices of his products and that no foreign connections of importance had been established yet. He said that neither France nor England would admit the wares and his American connections advised that the uncertainty of the basis of the United States customs duties prevented resumption of business. Another said that the northern neutrals were buying large quantities of lace, apparently to resell to other countries.

Hope for Foreign Amity.

Owing to the complete absence of all cotton importation during the war, the domestic market is taking that product as rapidly as it can be turned out, but there is grave doubt as to the quantity that can be absorbed.

Therefore the textile men hope to see foreign relations reëstablished soon.

Inquiries concerning the attitude of labor discloses that the workers are not dissatisfied, but ask for frequent increases in wages in order to keep pace with the steady rise in the cost of living. The city's books show 17,000 unemployed, but this number is frequently much larger, as the coal shortage has several times compelled a shutdown of the electric plant supplying the factories with current. Some shutdowns lasted several days, but there were no labor disturbances. The only man who expressed fear of bolshevistic agitation said it could be avoided if only the raw material could be provided to keep the people working.

DRASTIC LAWS TO CURB FAKE STOCK DEALS, N. Y. PLAN

New York, Dec. 25.—Granting to the banking department and attorney general jurisdiction over commercial transactions, with power to investigate all deals of which complaint is made, is recommended to Gov. Smith by the commission named by him to investigate legislation to check stock frauds.

The commission recommends the attorney general have one or more special deputies to familiarize themselves with commercial transactions and investigate alleged irregularities.

A majority report, submitted by John J. Pulleyn, New York banker, recommends a commission of lawyers, on which the various district attorneys of the state are represented, to revise the New York penal laws.

"No formula of words, no mathematical computations dependent on automatic operations can make an efficient trap to catch the crooked dealer," declares the majority report. "What is needed is a flexible, virile, fraud hunting state machinery, driven not by statute, but by human intelligence and human activity."

A minority report, submitted by A. Barton Hepburn, recommends a statute with two of the familiar features of a blue sky law: First, a system of verified statistical detail, with both civil and criminal liability, and second, licensing of every security dealer.

The Pulleyn report objects to both these proposals. New York state, as the world's financial center, cannot afford to "adopt experimental legislation of the character adopted in our western states," says the Pulleyn report.

Jewel Tea.

G. B.: The Jewel Tea company sells principally to farmers who fight the high cost of living by refusing to pay high prices. As a result the company has to sell coffee at a very small profit. It also must pay interest on money borrowed to carry supplies bought at much higher prices than formerly. Last May it issued $3,500,000 of serial notes. Next year $1,000,000 of them mature and in 1921 $1,500,000. Probably with a view to meeting these notes, it has stopped the dividend on its preferred stock. In 1918 it earned 18½ per cent on $3,760,000 of preferred stock. This year's sales have increased moderately, but profits are supposed to have declined.

Chicago Elevated Railways.

J. C. M.: The Chicago Elevated Railways earned $108,669 net in the month of October last, after interest, rents, etc., of the various constituent companies had been paid. That sum is almost equal to one month's interest on the $14,000,000 of defaulted notes, but the money cannot be used for that purpose. There is urgent need of expending large sums on maintenance which was neglected for a long period before the increased fares took effect.

Chicago United Theaters.

C. C.: The Chicago United Theaters, Inc., is erecting a building for a film theater, stores, and apartments. Land and building are to cost $670,000 and to be mortgaged for $385,000. The undertaking has good backing. In view of the large bonded debt the value of the stock will depend almost solely on the success of the theater, and, of course, that cannot be predicted. The stock represents participation in a business venture.

Brief Answers.

T. W. P., Oshkosh, Wis.: No information is obtainable about the Oshkosh Four Wheel Drive Auto company. It has not replied to a request for data.

C. M., Kankakee, Ill.: The Baltimore and Ohio company is not earning its preferred dividend, but is paying it out of government compensation.

Standard Sanitary Co. Gives 15 Per Cent Bonus

A bonus of 15 per cent was distributed by the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company, 14 North Peoria street. The Sisson company yesterday announced a bonus of 10 per cent to all employés of the hotel.

JOHN V. FARWELL CO. REVIEW.

John V. Farwell company in its weekly review of trade says:

"Wholesale dry goods and general store merchandise business has continued with uninterrupted volume during the last week. The buying of holiday goods and so-called luxury lines showing tremendous rebound from the curtailments during the war holiday seasons. Mills are advancing cotton goods and sateens. Retailers are covering their requirements for silks and ribbons far into the coming year. Distributors can secure no promises of deliveries from mills on new silk and ribbon orders before June and July. An advance in price of ribbons is looked for at an early date. Collections are good.

THE IRON AGE

The Iron Age will say today:

"The steel trade approaches the end of the year with mills still guarding against overloading of their books. Production in the leading centers varies little from that of recent weeks. The market shows rather more contrast between the policy of the Steel corporation in holding to the prices of March 21 and that of most other producers in selling in their limited way at prices more nearly in line with the advance of $10@12 per ton in pig iron that has taken place since Oct. 1.

"The expectation of considerable railroad business after Jan. 1 is quite general, and in rails alone the amounts tentatively named foot up from 800,000 to 1,000,000 tons. A significant development is the purchase by the Long Island railroad of 100 passenger cars, for which no cash is paid, but 20 per cent in notes, with yearly payments over ten years and 80 per cent in car trust certificates. For the Belgian locomotives placed here five year notes not negotiable but available for collateral are to be taken.

"With the sustained activity in fabribated steel work 1919 bids fair to equal the lean years of 1913 and 1914, when not over 1,100,000 tons was contracted for in each case. In the first six months of 1919 the total business did not exceed 325,000 tons, but in the five months since about 680,000 tons was done.

"Shaper competition for high speed steel orders just placed in the central west developed prices as low as $1 per pound, where as the recent market on current deliveries has been $1.40. The Carnegie Steel company has again appeared as the only bidder offering as low as 2.50 cents Pittsburgh on plates, the price being quoted on 10,000 tons for the navy. An eastern ship yard has bought 15,000 tons and the Bethlehem Shipbuilding corporation requires 14,000 tons. For Seattle yards 75,000 tons is under inquiry for first half of 1920. Castiron pipe has advanced $4 per ton, or to $69.80 Chicago for four inch. Pipe foundries have fairly good bookings for the year-end. Foundry pig iron sales have fallen off. Two large transactions in surplus war steel have been put through in the last week."

FINANCIAL NOTES

In connection with the plan of the Ohio Cities Gas company to increase its authorized preferred stock from $10,000,000 to $90,000,000, it is understood the company is planning to take over other properties and to do its financing through its preferred stock; also to retire its $2,000,000 notes outstanding.

Under the new plan of reorganization of the New York curb market there will be two classes of membership, regular and associate. Regular membership shall include the present membership and those who may be elected by the board of representatives. Associate membership shall entitle the holder to the privilege of having his business transacted for the minimum commission rates. An associate membership, however, will not entitle the holder to the floor privileges. Any regular member may deputize a man to act for him as his representative on the floor.

W. McM. Rutter, resident partner of White, Weld & Co. of New York, announces that the western business of his firm will be taken over Feb. 1 by Rutter, Lindsay & Co., an Illinois corporation. Mr. Rutter, who will head the new company, will become a special partner in White, Weld & Co., and the latter firm in turn will obtain an interest in Rutter, Lindsay & Co. Martin Lindsay, vice president of the Northern Trust company, will become associated with Mr. Rutter, having resigned from the bank.

The following have been elected to the Chicago association of commerce committee representing subdivision No. 21, which includes financial houses dealing in stocks, bonds, and commercial paper: Chairman, Frank E. Sedgwick, John Nuveen & Co.; vice chairman, Laurence H. Whiting, A. B. Leach & Co.; George S. Ballard, Babcock, Rushton & Co.; William H. Hulswitt, United Light and Railways company; William C. Gibson, Peabody, Houghtelling & Co., and Schuyler B. Terry, National City company.

Hear this famous Victor artist!

The appearance of Harry Lauder is an event of twofold interest to the amusement-loving public.

(1) It presents the opportunity of hearing the songs and witticisms of this great Scotch comedian.

(2) It enables you to compare his inimitable interpretations with his Victor Records.

Hear Harry Lauder at this performance. Then go to any Victor dealer's and hear the Victor Records by Harry Lauder. You will instantly appreciate how truly the Victrola brings to you his personality and his droll art.

You will understand why Harry Lauder chose to make records for the Victor Company. You will realize that it is this fidelity of reproduction which causes the world's greatest artists to make Victor Records.

Victrolas in great variety of styles from $25 to $950.

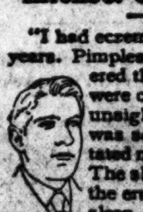
ECZEMA AND ACNE FOR 12 YEARS

Face Unsightly. Itching Intense. Cuticura Heals.



"I had eczema and acne for twelve years. Pimples and blackheads covered the skin and the pores were clogged. My face was unsightly and the itching was so intense that I irritated my face by scratching. The skin was inflamed, and the eruption caused loss of sleep.

"Then I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using them for two months I was healed." (Signed) Prof. A. Beninghoff, 418 Lucas Avenue, St. Louis, Mo.

Make Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum your daily toilet preparations.

Soap 25c, Ointment 25 and 50c, Talcum 25c. Sold throughout the world. For sample each free address: "Cuticura Laboratories, Dept. H, Malden, Mass." Cuticura Soap shaves without mug.
